Assembly Passes $261 Million Plan In Taxpayer Cuts

Bill Now Faces Voter Test In Nov. 5 General Election

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan received today the legislative prize that has eluded him all year long—and a tax revision that promises help for Reagan's "forgotten man" who carries the burden of government on his shoulders.

The Assembly late yesterday completed action on a $261 million tax revision package, sending it to the Republican chief executive's desk on a 78-2 vote.

The lower house lawmakers then turned their attention to leftover minor legislation, hoping to clear it up today and end the two-week-old special session.

A COMPROMISE

The tax proposal represents compromise on the part of the three key figures involved—Reagan; Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood and Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez.

Before it goes into effect, it has to win approval of the voter at the Nov. 5 general election over a competing plan—Proposition 9, an initiative proposal to put a tight lid on the future use of property taxes for government support.

THE CATALYST

Proposition 9 (the Watson amendment) clearly was the major catalyst which forced the Democratic - controlled Legislature and Reagan into a spirit of compromise unprecedented in Reagan's term.

The Legislature's package pledges:

A $750 exemption to the homeowner on the assessed value of his house, figuring out to an average property tax cut of $70 a year, if tax rates remain constant. And since rates vary from county to county, so would the cut.

RENTER HELP

A total $40 million reduction for the renter, who indirectly pays taxes through higher rent. This is done through doubling the standard deduction when figuring the state income tax.

A $43 million cut in the business inventory tax.

Since this year's tax rates already are set by the counties, cities, school districts and myriad other local taxing agencies, the homeowner will get the first year's break in a flat $70 rebate in the spring. This is providing the proposal, to appear on the ballot as Proposition 1-A, wins in November, and Proposition 9, the measure sponsored by Philip Watson, Los Angeles County assessor, does not.

During the year, as talk increased of Reagan being a candidate for president, he spoke of a "forgotten American" who

Legislators Censure Regents

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Legislature is on record today censuring University of California regents and officials in the appointment of Black Panther party leader Eldridge Cleaver as a guest lecturer.

Democratic Assembly opponents objected to the Senate-passed resolution as "garbage," but it passed 46-22 after more than two hours of bitter debate. Minutes later, the Senate concurred in a key Assembly change on a vote of 25-5 without debate.

In the Assembly roll call the lone Republican voting against the censure measure was William T. Bagley of San Rafael.

At one point, Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Inglewood called it a "silly stupid little resolution."

But many Republicans said the Cleaver affair was an outrage and the people were crying for action.

But Republican Controller Houston I. Flournoy urged a cool approach. The former GOP assemblyman said the regents should not "rashly destroy" relations with the U.C. faculty by banning Cleaver from the campus. His comments came in a press statement and a telegram to regents meeting in Los Angeles.

The Assembly amendment added regents to the censureship which previously had been levied in the Senate on U.C. President Charles Hitch and Berkeley Chancellor Roger W. Heyns.

Flournoy said he had more confidence in the U.C. students than a fear they would follow the black militant "off a precipice."

"As a faculty member at Pomona College for nine years," he said, "I know of the disastrous impact upon the faculty if you act to ban Cleaver."

He told the regents, "I urge you not to rashly destroy crucial relationships with the fac-

It's First Degree For Sommerhalder

Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, the number one Grim Reaper, stands convicted today of two counts of first degree murder for the Santa Venetia slayings Jan. 12 of Curtis and Shirley Ackley.

A Marin Superior Court jury of seven men and five women deliberated four hours last night before returning the double murder verdict at 10 p.m.

Sommerhalder sat expressionless as the verdict was read, but smiled slightly as he was led downstairs to his jail cell, according to jailers.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set Tuesday for the beginning of a penalty trial for the 25-year-old Santa Rosa motorcycle gang leader.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, who prosecuted the case, seeks the death penalty for Sommerhalder.

The Grim Reaper president's codefendant, 20-year-old Kenneth Allen Preston of Santa Rosa, is on San Quentin's Death Row today for his part in the slayings.

The two murdered the Ackleys when the young couple returned to their trailer house in Santa Venetia on that winter night to find Sommerhalder and Preston ransacking their trailer house.

As Bales pieced the crime together in his summation to the jury yesterday, Curtis Ackley, 28, arrived nome first and was confronted by the gun-wielding killers.

His body was unmarked, save for four small bullet holes behind his left ear. He was bound hand and foot and blindfolded. He must have

Gov. Reagan On Hand As Regents Continue Cleaver Lecture Debate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — University of California regents were to continue debate today in a controversy surrounding Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver's selection as a guest lecturer on the U.C. campus at Berkeley.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, who has predicted the regents will prevent Cleaver from appearing in an experimental course on the background of racial disorders, was on hand for the meeting at the University of California at Los Angeles. It was scheduled to begin at 1:45 p.m.

Upon his arrival here, Reagan said, "I don't think he (Cleaver) should participate in even one lecture."

After two hours of public hearings and an hour of private debate yesterday, a regents committee failed to agree on a plan to end the controversy.

"There was no consensus," Regent William K. Coblentz of San Francisco said after the meeting of the nine-member education policy committee.

"I made several proposals," U. C. President Charles J. Hitch said. "Other regents made several proposals, but there was no agreement."

One plan backed by the U.C. Academic Council would require close scrutiny of the academic backgrounds of informally as well as formally appointed U.C. lecturers. But the plan would not necessarily bar Cleaver from speaking in at least 10 scheduled class periods.

The Academic Council is composed of leaders of the Academic Senate on U.C.'s nine campuses.

12 Die In Crash At Air Show

FARNBOROUGH, England (AP) — A French maritime patrol plane crashed in flames atop an airport social club before the horrified gaze of 10,000 spectators at the Farnborough Air Show today.

Twelve bodies were recovered from the wreckage of the plane and building, and more may have perished.

At least five French air force officers, crewmen of the French air force experimental plane, were believed among the dead. Others were thought to be British civilians who were in or near a group of buildings set afire by the blazing plane.

HEARS 'WHOOSH'

A British air force official who was in his office about 40 yards from the scene, said: "I heard a whoosh and looked across and saw smoke and flame . . . ambulances and fire engines were on the scene within seconds."

The plane, a twin-engine turboprop aircraft built to the specifications of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by the industry of six nations, was giving a display of flying on one engine.

It was circling slowly to the right before starting the second engine when it appeared to sideslip on to an air force social club on the field.

BALL OF FIRE

"There was not a big bang," a witness said. "It just seemed to disintegrate and then there was a huge ball of fire."

Firemen with five fire trucks poured foam on the blaze for more than 90 minutes before rescue workers could get near.

It was the first major air crash at the air show since 1952 when 30 persons were killed and 63 injured by a jet engine plummeting into the crowd.

The Farnborough show is sponsored by the Society of British Aerospace Companies and is the annual show window for British military and civil aircraft.

The Breguet 1150 Atlantic was built to designs laid down by NATO in 1958. Companies involved in the consortium were the Dutch Fokker, West German Dornier and ABAP of Belgium. The electronic gear came from the United States and Rolls-Royce of Britain supplied the engines. Final assembly was done by Breguet in France.

Hitch Calls For $63 Million Hike In U.C. Budgets

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—University of California President Charles J. Hitch said today that $354 million will be needed to maintain the "vitality, quality and impetus" of the nine-campus institution during the 1969-70 year. This is $63 million more than the budget for the current fiscal year.

The president said enrollment will increase by more than 8 per cent to 105,000 students next year. In 1973, he added, the student bodies at the nine campuses will be more than 32 per cent larger than at present.

Hitch noted that the university's effort to turn out more doctors and dentists to meet the needs of a growing population "will continue to place a heavy burden on available resources."

New Library, Open Meeting Demanded

By STEPHEN COOK

Student activists confronted the trustees of the Marin Junior College District last night in a raucous, one-hour debate on the district's alleged emphasis on athletics.

For the most part, the meeting brought demands and petitions from the students, silence from the trustees.

When the board abruptly closed the debate to continue its planned agenda, verbal exchanges between students opposing and supporting a de-emphasis of athletics escalated to minor fisticuffs outside the meeting room.

Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond said the fracas involved only minor "shoulder-bumping," but Michael McGinn, a member of the militant Students for Academic Freedom (SAF), appeared on campus this morning with his arm in a sling.

McGinn, a 31-year-old sophomore, led off the heated discussion by presenting a petition with "400-plus signatures" of students demanding the district immediately cease construction of a $522,800 football field and track and begin construction of a new library.

"We are glad to have your comments, but the board cannot comment now," said board President Theodore C. Wellman.

"Can I ask when the board will act on this petition?" said McGinn.

"You may ask, but you will get no response. This board does not move precipitously," said Wellman.

In that case, McGinn said, SAF had some demands to make of the board:

1. Immediate formation of a citizens review board, of four each from the student body, faculty and community, to review planning priorities and new construction at the college.

2. An open, nonagenda meeting within a week at which the board would hear community student and faculty grievances, initiate action to satisfy those grievances and move to increase communication between the board and the community.

POWER TO THE PEOPLE

McGinn distributed a mimeographed statement of these demands. The statement was signed with the slogan: "Power to the people!"

"That's quite an order," said Wellman, who added that the board "will not respond at this time."

Kerin Frederick of San Anselmo, who said she was once a student at the college, presented a petition she said was signed by 94 members of the community.

It asked that the board appoint an ad hoc committee to restudy the proposed building priorities list. The committee should include members of the community, a college planner and a student, she said.

LIBRARY PLEA

"We would remind the board that the present library facilities were declared inadequate 10 years ago, and recommend that a new library receive top priori-

Board Bars Televising Hot Session

Camera-shy trustees of the Marin Junior College District board last night ordered that student-operated television cameras be dismantled before their confrontation with student activists.

Student Dan Lochman said he checked out the college cameras in order to tape an anticipated heated discussion with students, who claim the college gives too much attention to athletics, not enough to academics.

Taking his seat at the start of the meeting, board Vice President Robert E. Oliver asked:

"Were you given permission to come to the board meeting tonight and use that equipment?"

Lochman said he had not considered such permission necessary, but added "if I am out of order, I'll remove the equipment right now."

"I wish you would," Oliver said.

"Why is he out of order?" asked Patrick Blake, student body vice president.

"He has no permission," said board President Theodore C. Wellman.

"Can I ask for permission now?" asked Blake.

"I don't think that would be in order now," said Wellman.

The approximately 100 students in the audience hooted, but the equipment was dismantled.

Finance District Soaked By Flood

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A torrent of water which one fireman said "looked like the Colorado River" flooded basements in the financial district early today after a water main was broken.

Terry Tatarian, maintenance chief for the city water department, said it was not known how the main was broken. But he said excavation for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District "may have disturbed something."

Fire department pumper trucks pumped several inches of water out of basements of Crocker Citizens' international banking headquarters and the Standard Oil building at Sansome and Bush.

U.S. Jetliner Lands In Cuba After Hijack

MIAMI (UPI)—A jetliner with 53 persons aboard was hijacked and taken to Cuba today after departing the Isla Grande Airport at San Juan, P. R. on a flight to Miami.

It was the 15th plane hijacked to Cuba this year.

Paul Boatman, regional supervisor of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), said the Eastern Airlines Boeing 720 finally landed at Havana's Jose Martin Airport at 9:45 a.m. EDT. It was commandeered about two hours after it departed Puerto Rico.

Boatman said the plane, flight No. 950, was about 40 miles southwest of Nassau, Bahamas, when it suddenly made an unscheduled turn toward the southwest and headed for Havana.

The plane, piloted by Capt. W. T. (Slim) Babbitt of Miami, was scheduled to land here at 9:35 a.m. It departed San Juan at about 7 a.m., eastern officials said.

"We are working with the State Department to return the passengers as quickly as we possibly can," Eastern spokesman Bill Wooten said.

"We have no idea what happened aboard the flight. We have had no communication with the plane whatsoever," Wooten said.

Defense Spending Sliced In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved a $71.9-billion defense spending budget that is $5.2 billion under President Johnson's request for the current fiscal year.

The House earlier had recommended $72.2 billion. The Senate committee cut an additional $353 million.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Crime Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's crime rate jumped 21 per cent for the first half of this year compared with the same six months in 1967 the FBI said yesterday.

Robbery showed the highest increase, up 29 per cent. The FBI said firearms were used in three of every five robberies. More than half the robberies were street holdups.

The FBI compiled the crime statistics from reports by local law enforcement agencies across the country. Both the suburbs and the cities over one million in population reflected the 21 per cent climb in crime, but rural areas showed only a 14 per cent intrease.

Male Birth Control

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Development of drugs that allow men to remain infertile for long periods may be the best approach to birth control, suggests Dr. Irwin H. Kaiser, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Utah.

Kaiser, discussing the future of contraceptives yesterday at the American Academy of General Practice convention, said taking birth control pills has a bad psychological effect on some women. Some marriages may be stronger, he said, if the birth control burden was placed on the man.

Colorful Graham

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham wore orange slacks, a green shirt and yellow shoes for a round of golf with friends yesterday.

Graham said the yellow shoes had been admired by President Johnson recently.

"The next time I was in New York, I bought a pair of them in Mr. Johnson's size in every color available — six, I think — and sent them to him," Graham said.

Graham, a Charlotte native, is being honored by his hometown with a "Billy Graham Appreciation Day."

Caracas Temblor

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A strong earthquake woke Caracas shortly after 2 a.m. today and sent hundreds of frightened persons into the streets in their nightclothes. But the police said there were no casualties and no reports of property damage. Nor were any casualties reported from the interior of the country.

The quake appeared to be strongest in the eastern part of the city, where about 300 persons were killed in a quake 14 months ago. Today terrified residents there fled from their homes, shouting and crying. Many with cars drove them into public squares and other open places.

Federal Court Gags

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Judicial Conference has told federal trial courts to dix limits on what lawyers may say publicly about pending criminal cases.

The conference, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, also recommended that court personnel, including clerks and bailiffs, be forbidden to release information about closed hearings. It said district courts should discipline lawyers and court personnel who don't comply.

The conference includes chief judges from the federal circuit courts of appeal, a district judge from each circuit, and chief judges of other federal courts. It adopted the proposals to curb "inflammatory publicity" about criminal trials after they were endorsed by 164 judges across the nation.

Birds Poisoned?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pigeons fell dead by the dozens yesterday in Pershing Square. Nobody knew why.

Chessman's Judge Gets Sirhan Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused of killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, will be tried before Judge Herbert V. Walker, who has heard more criminal cases than any other jurist in Los Angeles County. He once ruled the death penalty constitutional.

Walker was named presiding judge yesterday at the trial due to start Nov. 1.

He handed down the death penalty to Caryl Chessman, who died in the gas chamber in 1960 after a 12-year legal battle. Chessman, 38 at the time of his death, was a convicted sex criminal.

The bushy-browed judge, at 69, is dean of the Los Angeles criminal judges. He was appointed to the bench in 1953 by Gov. Earl Warren, now U.S. chief justice.

"His standards of fairness and justice have been in the highest traditions of judicial responsibility," the Criminal Courts Bar Association said of Walker in 1964.

In 1967 he granted a 12-day hearing to the American Civil Liberties Union, which contended the death penalty constitutes cruel and unusual punishment.

Experts in crime and punishment testified. Walker held that the death penalty aas constitutional. Geral Gottlieb, one ofthe ACLU's lawyers, said Judge Walker's role in the hearing "will constitute a lasting contribution to American law."

Allies Halt New Attacks On Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces drove back two strong attacks early today by some 600 North Vietnamese northwest of Saigon, killing 67 enemy soldiers at a cost of nine South Vietnamese militiamen killed and 31 of the defenders wounded.

But in three other battles south of Da Nang and in the Mekong Delta, Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces dealt serious losses to U.S. and South Vietnamese units. The casualty count in those engagements was 24 Americans, 168 South Vietnamese and 91 of the enemy killed, 81 Americans and 81 South Vietnamese wounded.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. pilots shot down their first MIG jet in seven weeks yesterday, the U.S. Command announced. The command also reported that a U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down by North Vietnamese groundfire and the pilot is missing.

The ground war continued hottest northwest of Saigon, along the jungled invasion routes from Cambodia to the capital, and in the northern provinces. U.S. intelligence officers said they had one "pretty good" report that an attack on Saigon was planned for Monday to mark one of the Viet Cong's numerous special days. But one officer said "we have nothing to back it up and there is no indication of movement."

Northwest of Saigon, a battalion of perhaps 300 North Vietnamese came out of hideouts in rubber plantation country and attacked a U.S. 25th Infantry Division camp 10 miles east of Tay Ninh City.

The attackers hit the 200 American defenders with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades, machine-gun fire and small arms, but the U.S. troops—well entrenched for the night-reported only three men wounded.

American fire from helicopter gunships, artillery and 50-caliber machine guns sent the enemy force reeling back after about three hours of fighting. Military spokesmen said 32 enemy bodies were found on the battlefield, along with three bazooka-type rocket launchers.

About 10 miles west of Tay Ninh and barely a mile from the Cambodian border, about 300 North Vietnamese attacked a government outpost defended by militiamen.

Malaysia's Philippine Act Official

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia informed the Philippine government officially today it is suspending diplomatic relations and asked it to withdraw its customs officers from the North Borneo state of Sabah "at the earliest opportunity."

Malaysia's note was handed to Philippine Charge d'Affaires Romeo T. Cristobal at the foreign ministry.

Meanwhile, the Sabah government whipped up anti-Philippine feeling, and youths in Kota Kinabalu, the Sabah capital, burned Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos in effigy to protest the Filipino claim on their Malaysian state.

More than 10,000 of Kota Kinabalu's 60,000 population watched as a group of youths punched, spat on and burned an effigy of the Filipino president hanging from a makeshift gallows in this capital city.

Led by Sabah Deputy Chief Minister Khoo Siak Chiew and other officials, the youths then paraded the flaming effigy through the city's streets.

Ambush Deaths May Fuel Mideast Crisis

TEL AVIV (AP) — Another Israeli attack on Jordan is expected in retaliation for the ambush killing of six Israelis on patrol, including a lieutenant colonel and amajor.

In Israel's costliest encounter with Arab guerrillas since the Middle East war in June 1967, four other Israelis were wounded when five Arabs hiding in hills near Nablus cut loose with hand grenades and automatic weapons Tuesday, Israeli military sources reported yesterday.

The attackers were reported wiped out, but it was considered probable that the Israelis would take further strong action against the Jordanians, whom they contend provide bases and arms for the Arab commando raiders.

Israel's worst previous toll in a clash with guerrillas was the death of a colonel and a captain July 26 in a running battle with eight Arabs near the Damiya Bridge across the Jordan River.

Five other Israeli security troops have been killed in fighting along the Jordan border in the last week.

Israel shelled the Jordanian town of Irbid Tuesday in retaliation for an Arab rocket attack the previous night on the Israeli town of Bet She'an. When the U.N. Security Council on Wednesday called on the Arabs and Israelis again to observe the 15-month-old cease-fire, the two opposing sides both declared they have rights of self-defense.

In the council today, Pakistan and Senegal opened a campaign for an on-the-spot investigation of how Israel treats residents of the Arab territories occupied in the 1967 war.

One such investigation was conducted a year ago, along with a check on the state of Jews in Egypt and Syria.

Cancer Rate Survival Is Climbing

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The incidence of cancer is rising in the United States, but so are survival rates, thanks to improving diagnosis and treatment.

The conflicting picture emerged yesterday in a new report by the Public Health Service's National Cancer Isntitute. It was presented at the sixth National Cancer Conference by Dr. Sidney J. Cutler, institute statistician.

Cutler and his associates evaluated data on nearly 400,000 patients in more than 100 hospitals around the nation to assess end results of the fight against cancer in the past 25 years.

On the optimistic side, Dr. Cutler listed increasing survival rates among patients with cancer of the colon, rectum, breast, uterine cervix, prostate, and a number of other body sites.

On the gloomy side, he cited a soaring incidence of lung cancer, the major cause of cancer deaths in men, and in breast cancer, the major cause of cancer deaths in women.

Deaths in the United States attributed to lung cancer numbered 2,800 in 1930, rose to 46,000 in 1965 and are expected to total 65,000 in 1975, Cutler said.

Nixon: 'I Feel Victory In Air'

NEW YORK (AP) — Republicans picked up a $5 million dinner tab for Richard M. Nixon, and the GOP nominee for the White House told them "you're going to win this bet" with victory in the Nov. 5 election.

"I can feel the feel of victory in the air," Nixon said last night in a closed-circuit television address to a network of 20 fund-raising dinners.

Nixon said the dinners would net close to $5 million for his campaign treasury. "Those of you that have made this great contribution ..." he said, "you've made a good bet.

"You're going to win this bet, and you're going to win it big."

His treasury replenished, Nixon set out today to hunt votes in Pennsylvania, with a Philadelphia motorcade and a statewide television appearance.

That television show, and others like it in major electoral vote states, account for a big chunk of Nixon's campaign spending.

In Los Angeles, Nixon's running mate, Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, was among the 850 persons who viewed the candidate's televised speech. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York appeared at the San Francisco gathering.

The $1,000-a-plate dinner in Washington drew about 250 persons including GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss.

One guest, John W. Hill of the public relations firm of Hill and Knowlton Inc., wanted only cottage cheese for his $1,000 and got a heaping serving on a silver platter with red roses.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, commented he felt "uncomfortable among all these monied people." Asked, "Didn't you pay our thousand dollars," he replied, "Yes, that's why I feel uncomfortable."

At the Boston dinner attended by 200 persons, Michigan Gov. George Romney was the speaker. Sen. John Tower of Texas appeared at the Chicago fund raiser.

HUMPHREY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey has seized upon the heckling he and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy got in Boston from antiwar activists as an issue.

Before rlying here last night, Humphrey departed from his text to an audience in Sioux Falls, S.D., to assert:

"It's time to blow the whistle on those who would deny the American people the right to reason together."

Earlier, flying to South Dakota from Boston, the vice president told a group of newsmen aboard his plane that his tormentors were "hard core" and had been brought into Boston over several days.

"They were drilled," he said.

It was evident Humphrey hoped voters would be repelled by press accounts and television films of the continuous chanting that occurred while he and Kennedy spoke at an outdoor rally in Boston's business district yesterday.

The vice president was not neglecting, of course, his direct assaults against his Republican opponent for the presidency, Richard M. Nixon.

For the Springfield audience today, he challenged Nixon to join him in a recreation of the Lincoln-Douglas debates.

WALLACE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George Wallace has told home-state supporters, "We're going to show them that we represent the mainstream of thought in America."

At a homecoming rally Wednesday night, Wallace said the rest of the country had looked down its nose at Southerners, had called them "rednecks, peckerwoods and peapickers" and that he was "sick and tired of it."

"The country is not supposed to be run by a group of the elite," he said. He referred to "intellectuals and theoreticians" who, he said, believe in the voice of the people "so long as it agrees with their views."

Wallace was to take his third-party presidential campaign to Tallahassee, Daytona Beach and Orlando, Fla., today.

MUSKIE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says his failure to draw large crowds is due more to lack of organization than lack of popularity.

He suggested heavy turnouts for Republican Richard M. Nixon are the result of tactics rather than popularity.

The Democratic nominee for vice president was met by about 25 persons last night at the Salt Lake City Airport.

A day earlier Nixon had drawn about 2,000 airport greeters, and an overflow of more than 10,000 for a speech at the Mormon Tabernacle.

"There are two ways of getting crowds," Muskie said yesterday, "and Mr. Nixon has used both.

"One is to go where they are, at the noontime rush, he did that in Chicago.

"The second way is to plan well in advance ... and that's what he did here. He had about a month's preparation for his crowds here in Utah."

THURMOND

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who carried four states as the Dixiecrat presidential candidate in 1948, says George Wallace, third party candidate stands less chance than he did of reaching the White House.

The senator came here to address a $1,000-a-plate dinner Wednesday night to raise funds for the campaign of Richard M. Nixon, the Republican nominee for president.

In his speech to about 100 persons at the private dinner, Thurmond accused Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and associates of what he called influence peddling and cronyism.

UNION TICKET

DETROIT (AP) — The Democratic presidential ticket has been recommended for endorsement by the International Executive Board of the United Auto Workers Union to UAW delegates currently meeting over the country to make a Nov. 5 election choice.

As union president, Walter P. Reuther heads the 26-member executive board, which recommends Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie as the best qualified from the UAW's point of view.

Cook Islands Eyed For Tourist Project

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — An American company has offered $60 million for a 30-year lease on Aitutaki, one of the Cook Islands, to develop it as a tourist resort, Cook Premier Albert Henry said today while on a visit to Auckland.

Henry did not identify the company. The Cook group of 15 islands is 1,600 miles northeast of New Zealand, and 2,600 of its 19,250 people live on Aitutaki. The Cooks are a self-governing territory, but the population has New Zealand citizenship.

Antiwar Lieutenant Loses Round On General's Wire

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A top-level wire message, reportedly proposing a face-saving solution for the Air Force to the peace-marching and union-organizing activities of a Hamilton Air Force Base Officer, figured briefly in federal court yesterday.

Lloyd E. McMurray of San Francisco, attorney for Second Lt. Hugh Smith of Palo Alto, said the message noted that there are no Air Force regulations prohibiting Lieutenant Smith from staging a peace march in San Francisco.

The message, reportedly sent from Gen. Howell M. Estes Jr., head of the Military Airlift Command, stationed at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., to Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John P. Connell, suggested making a new regulation to prohibit Smith from participating in the march, McMurray said.

If that were not possible, the message from Estes suggested giving Smith an honorable discharge to keep him from holding the peace march, McMurray said.

The government protested that it was an intercepted wire message and inadmissable.

Judge Lloyd H. Burke, hearing the case in federal Ninth District Court, would not admit the message.

Judge Burke granted Smith a continuance to Wednesday to give his attorney time to file briefs and all arguments.

Smith, who claims he is being sent overseas to prevent his planned "GI and Vets March of Peace" Oct. 12 in San Francisco, is seeking an injunction to stop the military from sending him to Formosa Sept. 30.

Two airmen first class at Hamilton, who have also objected that they are being transferred to prevent their joining the peace march, Tuesday blocked their move to Utah for a few days to a month.

Their cases, requests for dismissal from the Air Force, were heard at Hamilton but the recommendations of the hearing officer, Capt. John Loughran will remain confidential. The airmen, Michael Locks of San Anselmo and John Bright of San Francisco, will not be transferred pending action on Capt. Loughran's recommendations.

Locke and Bright appealed for dismissal on the grounds that they are conscientious objectors.

Peking Pens Warning To Protect Albania

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China warned the United States and the Soviet Union today that if they tamper with Albania, they will be handed "a thorough, ignominious and irrevocable defeat" by the Chinese and the Albanians.

The warning was given by the Peking People's Daily and the Liberation Army Daily in almost identical editorials congratulating the tiny Adriatic nation on its withdrawal from the Warsaw Pact. Albania, Red China's only ally in the European Communist bloc, withdrew from the Warsaw Pact after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Mountain Fair Events Planned

A giant flea circus, art-in-action booths and children's activities will highlight the annual Mountain Fair planned by the Muir Woods Improvement Association for Sept. 28 and 29 in Mill Valley.

Local artists and craftsmen will display and sell their handcrafts, as well action booths which will feature Gladys Janoff working in the batik medium. In keeping with the general theme "Circus," there will be ponies, puppet shows, games and a treasure hunt.

The fairgrounds are located on a knoll at the end of Ridge Avenue, off Panoramic Highway and will be open from 10 a.m. until dark.

The state song of Florida is "Old Folks at Home."

IN MICE AND MEN?

Violence Contagious, Scientists Confirm

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A University of Tennessee husband-wife team of researchers has found evidence that mice react to violence by trying to join the action.

Dr. Bruce Welch and his wife, Annemarie, said they found that mice which witnessed violent action experienced a significant increase in the rate of release of a brain chemical that transmits nerve impulses, became excited and tried to join the fight.

Their findings on a series of experiments conducted at the university Memorial and Research Hospital are reported in the proceedings of the National Academy of Science.

The chemical which the Welches were studying is norepinephrine, a substance released by nerve cells in the brain of man and mouse alike.

The Welches' findings support the theory, long held by many sociologists, that violence is contagious.

Welch served as organizer for an international symposium on agressive behavior held recently in Milan, Italy.

For the experiments, the Welches rigged some mice in a wire basket so they could see some other mice fighting. The Welches said the noncombatant mice got so excited they tried to gnaw their way through the wire mesh and join the fight.

Analysis immediately following the experiment showed the norepinephrine levels in the lower brain stem of the excited but frustrated observer mice were about 32 per cent below normal.

In other words, Welch said, a lot of norepinephrine stored in mouse brains had been released to perform its nerve impulse functions, for good or ill, simply because the owners of the brains had witnessed violence by others.

Welch said one reason he and his wife chose to study norepinephrine concentrations in the brain was because of growing evidence that serious emotional disturbances in man may be associated with abnormal metabolism of this chemical and related neurotransmitters.

"This study appears to provide the first evidence for a specific neurochemical change in the central nervous system following a mildly stimulating psychological event," Welch said.

Sausalito Plan Chief Resigns Job

Sausalito Planning Director Charles W. Whitehead quit his post yesterday without explanation after less than a year on the job.

The 35-year-old planner handed his resignation effective Nov. 1, to City Mgr. George M. Patterson, who promptly accepted it without comment.

The city manager is empowered to hire, fire and accept resignations of city employees.

Whitehead, who became the city's first full-time planning director last December, would say only that he was leaving for personal reasons and declined comment on whether or not those reasons involved conflict with the planning commission or city administration.

He and his wife, who have no children, live in El Cerrito. He said he was considering several new posts, but has made no decisions.

Whitehead, who was chosen from 31 applicants, has worked in city planning departments in San Francisco, Oakland and San Diego and has a master's degree in city planning from the University of California.

Commission Worried Over Pollution

The Sausalito Recreation Commission expressed concern last night that continued pollution of the water in Richardson Bay might hurt future recreational facilities, according to chairman Eleanor Cruikshank.

The commission agreed to write letters to the Marin County district attorney and county planning director Paul C. Zucker requesting enforcement of the laws and codes applying to pollution of the bay.

County planning commissioners found a lack of sewer facilities when they took a look this week at houseboats moored in Richardson Bay.

The recreation commission also agreed to recommend to the Sausalito School board Oct. 7 that the southwest corner of the Bayside School be used for a park.

The site was picked at a meeting of school and city and recreation commission representatives Wednesday.

The commission decided to appeal to the Sausalito City Council and the Tamalpais High School District board for a bicycle path between Sausalito and the school.

The daily roundtrip fares by Greyhound bus, the only public transportation available between Sausalito and the school, is 80 cents, said Mrs. Cruikshank, and many students are resorting to hitchhiking.

The commission accepted a bid of $3,482 from Malott and Peterson-Grundy of San Francisco and authorized work to proceed on resurfacing the Southview Park tennis courts.

Mrs. Cruikshank reported that 16 per cent of the questionnaires on recreational needs have been returned. She urged residents to return the rest by Thursday.

submitted in hopes of saving the lives of himself and his wife, Bales said.

Shirley Ackley, 34, left the restaurant where they shared their last meal, about 10 minutes after her husband that night, a witness said.

When she arrived home, she must have struggled, said Bales, pointing to testimony that Sommerhalder told a fellow inmate that she was "a hard woman to kill."

While fully clothed, Mrs. Ackley was wounded with a shot through the shoulder. She was also strangled and tortured. She was stripped and raped, shot again through the brain. Then, when dead or nearly dead, she was stabbed twice in the back, a pathologist testified.

Bales said Mrs. Ackley probably died before her hapless husband.

Ronald E. Long, the inmate Sommerhalder talked to in county jail, said the killer told him he and Preston left the murder scene with $225, guns and jewelry.

Sommerhalder and Preston were captured in Santa Rosa Jan. 14, after a shootout with police. At Preston's cabin on the outskirts of Santa Rosa, officers found loot from the Ackley trailer.

They had been led to the cabin by Suzanne C. Mulkey, daughter of Mrs. Ackley and friend of the killers, and Richard Sommerhalder, brother of the motorcycle gang leader. They said Preston and Sommerhalder had told them of the killings.

Sommerhalder is accused of another murder in Santa Rosa. He allegedly shot and killed Charles Kaufmann, a junior college student, the night of Oct. 7.

"holds the whole bureaucratic structure of government on his tired back and he works two and a half hours of each day just to pay its cost."

He demanded during the seven-month-long regular legislative session a tax cut, an across-the-board $155 million reduction through the county governments. But he ran into a flat stone wall in the Senate, where Miller said little, if any, of that money would really get to the fellow it was supposed to help. And much of it would go to businessmen, he added, labeling it in his gruff tones as "a cruel hoax."

In a two-hour conference nine days ago, Miller proposed — and Reagan accepted — the more direct way of giving the homeowner a lower assessment.

CHESTER CARLSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Chester F. Carlson, whose invention of xerography made him a multimillionaire, is dead at the age of 62.

Carlson, who resided at Pittsford, N.Y., a Rochester suburb, was found unconscious in a theater seat here yesterday and died hours later in a hospital.

Carlson's invention for electrostatically reproducing printed matter came about because of his frustration over not being able to obtain extra copies of documents and drawings when he worked as a physicist with a New York electronics firm.

His Xerox machine took 11 years to develop.

Carlson was born in Seattle, Wash., the son of an itinerant barber. He worked his way through the California Institute of Technology, receiving his bachelor of science degree in physics.

RED FOLEY

RED FOLEY

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)— Red Foley, who rose to fame in the late 1940s with his recording of "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," was found dead in his motel room last night. He was 58.

He apparently died of natural causes as he was getting ready for bed some 8 to 12 hours before his body was found, Dr. Gordon Franke, Allen County coroner said. An autopsy was scheduled today.

Foley, whose gospel song "Peace in the Valley" was the first religious record to sell over a million copies, had given two performances in Fort Wayne Wednesday evening.

Clyde Julian Foley was born on a 24-acre farm near Berea, Ky. He began his professional singing career in 1931 at the age of 21.

Named the top folk artist in the country in 1950, he was voted into the country music Hall of Fame last year—becoming one of half-dozen living artists to hold the honor.

His first songs were the tragic ballads — "The Death of Floyd Collins" and "The Sinking of the Titanic"—but his name grew with the toe-tapping, rag-popping story of a singing shoe shine boy in a Chattanooga railroad station.

Foley, a baritone, got his first guitar lesson from his father and credited "pop" with his success in the music field.

He prepared for his "coming out" at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville in 1946 by doing shows with Gene Autry on the National Barn Dance.

After Foley left the Grand Ole Opry, he was featured singer on the "Ozak Jubilee," a television production he founded in Springfield, Mo.

Some of his later hits including "Don't Let The Stars Get in Your Eyes" "Tennessee Saturday Night," and "Just a Closer Walk With Thee."

ILL-FATED PUBLICITY STUNT

County Unit Wins Round On Bargaining

The Marin County Employees Association yesterday successfully beat off what it called a union raid on county employees and won the right to serve as bargaining agent for rank and file county employees not yet unionized.

The Marin County Personnel Commission voted 4-0 to recognize the Marin County Employees Association (MCEA) as a representation unit, for all county employees except:

Probation workers and social workers, who previously won union representation; public health and medical department nurses, who yesterday won the right to be represented by the California Nurses Association; emergency workers, who will have a separate representation unit; department heads and other "managerial" workers; and four departments who have confidential relationships with the county board of supervisors.

The "confidential" departments are employees assigned to the board of supervisors, the county counsel's office, county administrator's office and personnel department.

The next step is for members of the MCEA to hold a secret election to see if they want MCEA to represent them in negotiations with management.

Randall M. Prevo, general manager of MCEA, leveled the "raid" charge against the Service Employees International Union, Local 250, AFL-CIO, which wanted to represent 50 field workers in the county roads department.

Richard A. Liebes, representing the union, announced that 35 to 40 per cent in the road department wanted Local 250 to represent them. "All we ask is a chance to have an election in that unit." Liebes contended that blue collar workers in the field have no community of interest with white-collar workers at the Civic Center.

That's when Prevo flared up. "In the road department we have close to 100 per cent representation," said the MCEA manager. If the personnel commission acquiesced to Local 250, "it would be an open invitation for legalized raids on a long established organization," declared Prevo.

"The term 'raid' is not quite appropriate," Liebes countered quietly. He said he has signed cards from about 40 per cnnt of the road crews asking for representation by Local 250.

A third group asked for recognition during yesterday's three and one-half hour hearing at the Civic Center. James J. Gallagher, economic consultant for the California Nurses Association, produced signed cards from 12 of the county's 18 nurses (including part-time nurses) and asked that CNA be certified as bargaining agent. He was backed by Mrs. Dorothea Foltz, chairman of the professional performance committee of the county's public health nurses.

Prevo said MCEA's realations with the California Nurses Association has been "most friendly." While he believes that MCEA would be a better representative, Prevo said he would abide by the commission's judgment on a separate unit for nurses.

With Bella Aaron as chairman (Chairman Margaret M. Lucas resigned last week), the four-member commission then took the following actions:

Rejected Local 250 as a representative for the road workers, Mrs. Aaron the lone dissenter.

Accepted the California Nurses Association as bargaining agent for county nurses, Hugh G. Marchant, lone dissenter.

Unanimously accepted MCEA as the bargaining agent for all rank-and-file employees, except for the nurses and others previously unionized. Next step is an election among MCEA members.

Robert D. Elliott, personnel director, said the election will be conducted by the State Conciliation Service, and a majority of those voting will decide whether they want MCEA as their bargaining agent.

THE SENATE
Final Passage

UC—Censures University of California regents and administrators for Cleaver appointment; SCR 4, Schmitz.

Nigerian Troops Splitting Biafra

PORT HARCOURT, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian troops are trying to split Biafra in two with a pincers movement thrusting up from Owerri and down from north of Onitsha, officers returning from the front report.

The officers said most of the hundreds of thousands of refugees who once jammed Owerri have gone into hiding since Nigerian troops captured the town.

To the southeast, three Nigerian battalions have crossed the Aba River at Aba in a northern thrust toward Umauahia, headquarters of the secessionist leaders.

Miller Hunts For Votes To Save BART Financing

SACRAMENTO (AP) A Democratic senator held the Senate in a 12-hour stalemate session until early morning today, trying to push through a Bay Area transit bill that Gov. Ronald Reagan says he'll veto.

Sen. George Miller Jr. of Martinez finally reached a gentlemens' agreement with Republican leaders at 3:33 a.m. that the house would return this afternoon to try again to end the deadlock.

The issue was a bill to raise tolls on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge to help the Bay Area Rapid Transit District overcome a $144-million deficit.

Miller put the Senate under call—a procedure to keep the roll open—after the first vote, 16-16. He needed 21 votes but never rounded up more than 18.

He and Senate Republican leaders said they agreed to grant Miller the votes of two absent Democratic senators — Tom Carrell of San Fernando and Ralph Dills of Gardena — and let him take his chances on getting the 21st vote.

But Miller declined and said he would wait until Carrell and Dills could return this afternoon from Manchester, N.Y., where they were attending a meeting of legislative leaders.

Miller's potential 21st vote lay somewhere in a group of Republican senators—Lou Cusanovich of Van Nuys, John F. McCarthy of San Rafael, H. L. Richardson of Arcadia and Jack Schrade of San Diego.

Miller said each of the four told him he would be willing to vote for the bill but none wanted to be No. 21.

Miller said he didn't believe the governor's promise to veto the bill.

Reagan would sign the bill, Miller said, "even if he has to hold his nose."

Rec Session Set

Members of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission will meet Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. at the Women's Club building, according to E. Edgar, commission secretary.

Personnel Commissioners Seeking Pay For Sessions

Marin County Personnel Commissioners yesterday asked for $25 per meeting because regular meetings are turning into extended discussions on labor relations, for which fees are allocated in the county budget.

"We should ask for a per diem of $25 per meeting," said Hugh G. Marchant at the close of yesterday's long session, shortly before 7 p.m. Chairman Bella H. Aaron agreed. "The last three meetings have been devoted strictly to labor relations."

County Administrator Alan Bruce said he would take the request to the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Bruce explained that the budget provides $25 for special commission meetings to discuss labor relations, but in actual practice, labor relations are occupying most of the regular meeting time.

Mrs. Aaron yesterday moved into the post of chairman, vacated by Margaret M. Lucas, who resigned last week after 10 years of service. Mrs. Aaron will serve as chairman until the next annual election in July. The Marin County supervisors will appoint a successor to Miss Lucas to bring the commission to its full five members.

Marin County Personnel Commission Also:

VICE CHAIRMAN — Unanimously named Muriel Appenzeller as vice chairman.

REPRIMAND — Scolded Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott for sending a letter to the supervisors, reporting that the personnel commission had failed to give any consideration to Elliott's recommendations on a county grievance procedure. "That was not a true statement," declared Hugh G. Marchant. "We did consider the staff recommendations and rejected it," snapped Robert B. McCreadie.

COMMENDATION — Passed a resolution commending Miss Lucas for her long service on the commission.

RULES — Asked the personnel director to come back in 90 days with suggested revisions of the rules and regulations under which the personnel commission operates. Mrs. Aaron said the rules are obsolete and conflicting. Personnel Director Elliott conceded that the rules were developed before the county had a personnel staff, and many provisions conflict with the day to day operations of the personnel staff.

EMERGENCY EMPLOYEES — Decided that all employees in the sheriff's department and the county fire department, and three in the communications department (director, assistant, and telephone services supervisor) should be considered "emergency employees" and should not belong in the same representation unit as other county employees.

MANAGERIAL EMPLOYEES — Decided that positions of administrative analyst would be considered "managerial" and that private secretaries of department heads would be considered "non-managerial," at least for the time being. Randall M. Prevo, general manager of the Marin County Employees Association, and County Administrator Alan Bruce disagreed on the two definitions. Prevo said administrative analysts belong to employee groups, while Bruce maintained they are managerial. Bruce declared private secretaries of department heads should be classed as part of management, and Prevo dissented. Commissioners said these classifications are subject to change if future negotiations between employees and management warrant such change.

Volkswagen leaps into the present.

With a fully automatic transmission.

If you bet a friend we never would, we almost didn't.

10 years ago the decision was made. To design a fully automatic transmission. The kind you put in drive and forget.

Our aim was to make things easy, but for us changes aren't easy to make.

Especially in this case. There were certain things we just didn't want to lose.

Like horsepower, and our reputation for being economical.

What we've ended up with is a 3-speed automatic transmission that's pure Volkswagen—designed from scratch to get the most out of the VW with the least expenditure of effort.

It has the fewest moving parts.

It's the lightest per horsepower output. And it's incredibly sensitive. (A model airplane engine is powerful enough to turn it.)

So come see how far Volkswagen has come.

The Squareback and Fastback. Both have disk brakes, an electronically controlled fuel injection system, and now, a fully automatic transmission.

If you're interested, it's available as an option on our '69 models.

It you're not interested, we sure went to a lot of trouble for nothing.

Smoke Bombs Drive Out Theater Patrons

NEW YORK (AP) — Acrid smoke bombs drove more than 900 persons from a Broadway theater last night 10 minutes after the start of a preview performance of "The Cuban Thing."

Five men were arrested, four of them described as Cuban refugees.

The play had been interpreted as pro-Castro.

Two women were treated at a hospital for inhalation of the fumes from the explosion of three devices—one in front of the orchestra, another five rows back, and the third in the balcony of the Henry Miller Theater.

As the curtain went up for the first act the capacity audience of 946 included 30 plainclothesmen. Police had received a tip on the planned bombing.

Also in the audience, but as a playgoer, was Chief Police Inspector Sanford Garelik.

After the bombs went off, a theater attendant rushed onstage and urged the audience to be calm. The patrons, choking and coughing from the fumes, did not panic.

But as one woman put it, "My legs were orderly but my heart was pounding."

Arrested were Eduardo Fonseca, 23, of Newark, N.J.; Freyde Lopez, 23, Egler Carrello, 26, and Jose Sofis, 26, all of Union City, N.J., and William Sampol, 27, of Brooklyn.

All five were charged with felonious assault, reckless endangerment and inciting to riot. The New Jersey men were identified as Cuban refugees and Sampol as an anti-Castro sympathizer.

The play, by Jack Gelber, is about a middle class family in Cuba at the time of Fidel Castro's takeover. It starts its regular run next Tuesday. Preview performances have been running about a week.

The evening's performance was canceled after the incident, with the theater offering refunds or exchange tickets for another date.

The smoke bombings recalled a series of explosions in recent months at diplomatic missions and tourist offices here of nations that trade with Cuba. There have been no arrests in those bombings.

Among the Bedouin nomads of Saudi Arabia, men are generally better nourished than women and children, who eat leftovers after the men have finished.

Colorado Mine Slide Kills Four

SOMERSET, Colo. (AP) — Four men died under tons of rock yesterday when the roof of a U.S. Steel Corp., coal mine caved in about three-and-one-half miles inside a western Colorado mountain.

Another miner, who had been working nearby, was partially buried by slabs of rock, but was rescued by other employees.

"They just dug me out, that's all," said John W. Southerland, 33, a father of five. He was treated for back and knee injuries and went home.

The company identified the dead as Archie M. Morrison, 42, the mine superintendent; Veloy K. Piccioni, 37, the general mine foreman; Joe F. Burum, 54, the mine forman, all of Paonia, and Eugene Lee Bailey, 46, a mine operator, of Somerset.

WINE DISCOVERIES
at the CAFE BON VIN

Approximately 12% of the people who have dined at Café Bon Vin, while praising the quality of our cuisine, have sadly despaired of the quantity. (The pleasures of the abundant table, we are pleased to note, are still championed by a vast majority.)

LE PETIT DINER

And so, for this small but important minority, we now offer a less demanding repast. Slightly fewer courses, chosen from the legendary ten-course Coronation Banquet, will be served . . . and for a lesser price, $5.50. Any of the wines from our nine dinner selections may be purchased by the glass; or the excellent red or white house wines may be enjoyed by the decanter.

Frankly . . .

we do not recommend this dilute procedure (though our discreet waiters will never reveal their feelings.) It would be far better, we think, to come to Café Bon Vin each month, and enjoy it all! If compensate you must, cut down on lesser fare.

Cuban Missile Story Goes For $40 A Word

NEW YORK (AP) — A 26,000-word article about the Cuban missile crisis, written by the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has been sold to McCall's magazine for $1 million plus reprint and broadcast rights.

Norman Cousins, editor in chief of McCall's, announced the sale at a news conference yesterday. He said the cash price for the manuscript—$40 a word—was the largest ever paid for such material.

Cousins said the magazine containing the article would appear on newsstands Oct. 22, the sixth anniversary of the U.S.-Soviet confrontation over Cuba. He said the issue would have a normal press run of 8.5 million copies.

Theodore C. Sorensen, an aide to both Senator Kennedy and his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, said Robert Kennedy, then attorney general, had kept detailed notes on the crisis which ended when the Russians dismantled their Cuban missile sites and took the missiles back to the Soviet Union.

Sorensen said Kennedy began writing the article at the request of the New York Times magazine in April 1967, but later decided not to submit it for publication because it was too long and because some persons might feel he was using it in a bid for the presidency.

The article was found in the assassinated senator's personal effects and was sold to McCall's after bids were taken from various publishers, Sorensen said.

He said the $1 million, along with subsidiary rights including book publication, serialization, films, television and recordings, would go to the Kennedy estate.

Sorensen refused to disclose the contents of the article in detail, but said the manuscript contained new information about the "thinking and feeling at the time" of both John and Robert Kennedy, as well as correspondence between the late President and then Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

He said it also contained previously unpublished estimates and reports from the Central Intelligence Agency, and an account of deliberations by the National Security Council.

Cousins said the contract was signed Thursday in Washington. He said the executors of the Kennedy estate had been given the right to approve all advertising for the article and all excerpts selected for serialization.

Arbitration procedures have been provided in case there is a difference of opinion on these subjects, Cousins said.

Student-Made Films Slated

"The Idaho Tests," made in an experimental film course taught at Drake in the summer of 1966, has traveled across the nation, to colleges, seminars, conferences and also on a regular rental basis. Since then a permanent course in the art of the film has been established at Drake.

SURPRISE VISITOR — Dr. Andrew W. Cordier, acting president of Columbia University in New York City, pays a surprise visit to a student rally last night. As newsmen surrounded him, a student shouted: "Why don't you talk to the students instead of the press?" (UPI Telephoto).

Upton Sinclair, Novelist, Turns 90 Years Old

BOUND BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Novelist Upton Sinclair, the King of the Muckrakers, is 90 years old today.

Sinclair marked his birthday at a nursing home here. The Baltimore-born prophet of social change has been ailing since 1967.

In 1906 he became known with his novel "The Jungle," which exposed filthy conditions in the Chicago meat industry.

A federal investigation of the Chicago stockyards followed and the nation's pure food law came into being. Another result was that the zealous reformer, with a sure audience of millions, fired off opinions on so many subjects in novels and articles that Roosevelt said, "Tell Sinclair to go home and let me run the country."

He also lectured and ran unsuccessfully for public office as a Socialist and once as a Democrat in the gubernatorial campaign in California in 1934. In time, things he stumped for became commonplace, such as old age pensions, unemployment insurance, income and inheritance taxes and unionism.

In 1942 he received a Pulitzer prize for his novel "Dragon's Teeth," a story set in Hitler's Germany.

Moss Praises Information Law

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Rep. John E. Moss Jr., D-Calif., says the year-old federal Freedom of Information law is working well.

Moss, chairman of the House information subcommittee, said "its accomplishments thus far have been very much on the plus side."

The congressman told a luncheon of attorneys yesterday "there was much hand-wringing and wails of anguish by many executive branch officials" during the dozen years it took to get the law passed.

They feared it would open government documents to improper access, he said but that hasn't happened.

Columbia's President Pledges Open Campus

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Andrew W. Cordier, acting president of Columbia University, drew a mixture of cheers and catcalls when he showed up unexpectedly at a campus rally attended by about 700 persons.

Cordier, whose appearance yesterday surprised many in the crowd, told the students and others: "The campus belongs to all of us, it belongs to you, it belongs to me, it belongs to everybody."

The white-haired former diplomat continued: "It's been a life-long habit of mine to meet with students" and he promised to deal with the troubled university's problems in a "purposeful and candid fashion."

Meanwhile registration of the school's 25,000 students resumed without interruption after its abrupt suspension Wednesday when 150 supporters of the radical Students for a Democratic Society blocked a registration hall doorway.

The SDS, which claimed only about 50 members when it spearheaded demonstrations that paralyzed the Ivy League campus last spring, has led the efforts to rekindle the protest movement as the opening of the fall term approaches. Classes begin Sept. 26.

As a result of the Wednesday demonstration, which flared briefly into violence, the university suspended SDS's right to use campus facilities and referred to the Committee on Student Affairs the question of whether to revoke the group's campus charter.

The committee, comprised of two students, two faculty members and two representatives of the administration, met for six hours last night but announced no decision. Another meeting was set for today.

Revocation of the SDS charter would mean that all campus activity by the group would be illegal and that anyone participating in its activities would be subject to university discipline.

The rally attended by Cordier was called by the Students for a Restructured University, a more moderate group, to protest the school's ban on the use of campus facilities by the SDS.

Marijuana Patch Charge Denied

Suzanne Ziegler, 21, and William Kreutzmann Jr., 22, both of 4800 Lucas Valley Road, Nicasio, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of growing marijuana at their residence.

Miss Ziegler was arrested at the residence Wednesday when deputies reportedly found a marijuana patch in the yard. Kreutzmann accompanied her to court yesterday and was booked at County Jail before joining her for arraignment.

Both were ordered to appear at 2 p.m. Oct. 16 for preliminary hearing.

Snow Dusts Sierra, But Melts Quickly

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Snow dusted the Sierra Nevada overnight but disappeared quickly today under the sunshine.

Echo Summit reported half an inch. Heavenly Valley three inches, D. L. Bliss State Park one inch and Slide Mountain two inches.

A light fall also was reported at Squaw Valley.

More snow flurries above the 5,000-foot level in the Siskiyou and Sierra Nevada ranges were expected tonight. But the forecaster said it probably would be clear and warmer for the weekend.

Low temperature early Friday at Slide Mountain was 20 degrees. Meyers reported 29.

The balance of the state enjoyed mild, fair weather, except for some low cloudiness along the south coast and in the southern valleys. The prospect was for continued good weather with a gradual warming trend.

Wrong Name Given In Sublease Story

In a story Wednesday in the Independent-Journal on a public hearing of an application by the Edgewater Yacht Co. held by the Sausalito City Council, it was stated that the company subleases land from Manuel Pasquinucci.

This was incorrect. The land is subleased from Frank Pasquinucci.

Cranston Backer

Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon has been named to the San Francisco executive committee of Californians for Cranston, the Democratic nominee for U.S. Senate announced today.

MOSCO W(AP) — The Soviet Union's latest space probe, Zond 5, flew around the moon Wednesday, Tass reported today.

The official Soviet news agency said the minimum distance between Zond 5 and the moon was about 4,200 miles.

"A stable radio communication is maintained with the station and equipment on board the station relays scientific information to the ground," said Tass.

"The equipment on board the station functions normally. Pressure and temperature within the station is maintained within the preset limits.

"The coordination computing center continues processing incoming information."

Kremlin's Romanian Fuss Halts Visit By Czechs

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovak leaders apparently have been told by the Kremlin to postpone plans to go to Moscow this weekend for more negotiations.

A high-level Communist party and government delegation had been expected to leave today, but sources in Prague said the Russians had declined to receive the Czechoslovaks at this time.

Some linked this to Soviet preoccupation with a pressure campaign against Communist Romania, which differs with the Moscow line on foreign and economic policy and supported Czechoslovakia's attempt to liberalize communism.

Meanwhile, following the forced resignation of Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, the Russians are expected to put more pressure on the Czechoslovaks to oust other close associates of party chief Alexander Dubcek from government and party posts. Dubcek took over the nation's most powerful position last January and began the liberalization drive that brought the Soviet invasion Aug. 20.

Thant Risks Soviet Slap Over Czechs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has risked the displeasure of the Soviet Union by saying publicly that its occupation of Czechoslovakia goes against international morality and threatens to intensify the cold war.

Thant told more than 100 diplomats and newsmen at a luncheon yesterday that the world picture is "bleak and gloomy." He said he was sure recent events in Vietnam, the Middle East, Nigeria and Czechoslovakia will be reflected in the deliberations of the U.N. General Assembly which starts Tuesday.

Thant repeated earlier statements that he deplored the use of force anywhere to settle international problems; that the developments in Czechoslovakia were "yet another grave blow to the concepts of international order and morality" in the U.N. charter, and that they were a serious setback to a growing relaxation of tension between East and West.

Then, going farther than he had before, he added: "I am very much afraid that there will be an intensification of the cold war during the coming months as a result of these developments in Czechoslovakia . . .

"Whatever the motives might have been for the action taken by the Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies, I cannot help observing that the action has produced a feeling of disquiet and insecurity in the world at large which, I am afraid, will continue for quite some time."

Children's Play Due To Open At 1 P.M.

The "Merry Pranks of Tyll," a children's play about a boy who wants to be the king's jester, will be presented at 1 p.m. — not at 1:30 p.m., as previously announced — Sept. 28 at the Ignacio Community Center.

The morning performance by Marion Hayes Cain's Magic Circle of young players will take place at 10:30 as originally scheduled.

Pravda Calls NATO's New Moves Alarming

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda said today that the Soviet bloc's military alliance requires "further strengthening" of its defenses because of the "growing aggressiveness" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In a front page editorial, the Soviet Communist party newspaper charged that the United States and West Germany, "showing their aggressive essence, are undertaking attempts to weaken the Socialist camp."

It said this was shown in Czechoslovakia.

Pravda said West Germany is now demanding "an urgent increase in the military potential of NATO and the concentration of its new units at the borders with Socialist states."

"Judging by reports from Washington," Pravda continued, "the ruling circles of the U.S.A. . . .support plans for an arms race in the framework of NATO and demand that their European partners sharply increase their contribution to the growth of its military potential."

The "growing aggressiveness" of NATO, Pravda added, "imperatively dictates the need for an increase in the people's vigilance."

Pravda did not refer specifically to repeated U.S. statements this week that any Soviet military intervention in West Germany would provoke a NATO reaction. The Soviet press has renewed claims that Moscow could intervene legally in West Germany under World War II agreements with the Western powers.

Pravda said European peace is threatened by "the activization of revanchism (revenge-seeking) and neo-Nazism in West Germany." Because of this, it declared, "the task of the comprehensive increase in the defense capacity of each Socialist state and of the entire Socialist camp, and the further strengthening of the Warsaw Pact organization, has special importance."

The paper praised the Soviet-led intervention in Czechoslovakia as "a great contribution to the preservation of peace on the European continent."

Rockefeller Alarmed By Russ Moves

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Russian military threats against West Germany should be brought before the United Nations immediately before "it is too late to avert World War III," says Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The New York governor, speaking last night at a Republican party fund raising dinner, termed the Soviet threat of military intervention unless West Germany bows to its dictates incredible and said: "If we don't act now, it might well be that we could be witnessing a repetition of Hitler's unopposed actions in the late 1930s that led to World War II."

The governor spoke at a $1,000-a-plate dinner benefiting the campaign funds of the GOP candidates Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Spiro T. Agnew. (See another story, page 3.)

Judge Throws Out Ordinance Banning Be-In

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge ruled unconstitutional yesterday the ordinance by which Palo Alto banned a be-in celebration featuring amplified rock and roll music.

Palo Alto's recreation department had refused a permit for the mid-peninsula Free University's assembly in El Camino Park on Sunday.

James A. Hildebrand, Palo Alto city attorney, explained the only reason the permit was denied was because the be-in sponsors insisted on amplified music.

GROUPS PROTEST

Neighbors and hospital patients had protested against the noise at the university's previous park gathering.

U.S. Dist. Judge Lloyd H. Burke said he sympathized with Palo Alto's administration. He said he found the rock and roll music favored by his two sons to be loud and annoying.

"But I'm not here to judge the relative merits of the Bach and rock," he observed.

Burke ruled that the ordinance language under which the city acted was vague and uncertain and set no reasonable standards.

COULD ACT

Hildebrand commented that the city still could act under disturbance of the peace regulations and make arrests if the Free University's party became too noisy.

Judge Burke agreed.

"You can have a testing ground for just how much a community has to endure and still recognize the first amendment rights of free speech and assembly," he said.

The judge suggested that Hildebrand and James Wolpman, Palo Alto attorney who successfully contested the ordinance validity, should seek agreement on just how loud the rock and roll noise could be.

Hildebrand and Wolpman agreed to consult. Wolpman proposed postponing the celebration a week until Sept. 29 while the city and the celebration sponsors sought agreement on how loud is too loud.

Santa Venetia Medical Center Approval Sought

A request for a large medical center in Santa Venetia will come before County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill Monday at 10:30 a.m. in the planning commission chambers at the Civic Center.

L.B.M. Investment Management Co., headed by A. Bernard Muth of Orinda, seeks a use permit for a hospital of 101 beds and a convalescent home of 99 beds. It would be located on 14 acres of land on North San Pedro Road, about 200 feet south of Oxford Drive.

Last May, the area was rezoned from one-family homes to limited agricultural, which allows hospitals by use permit.

At 2 p.m., Cordill will consider a use permit for a dog kennel at 10 Syosset Lane, west of Indian Srpings Road, Novato. Richard and Mary Miller want to operate a kennel for a maximum of 12 dogs on the one-acre parcel.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. seeks a use permit for a field office headquarters and vehicle storage area on the north side of Atherton Avenue west of School Road, Novato. The area is zoned limited agricultural. This hearing is set for 3 p.m.

Transit Outline

The Bay Area Transportation Study Commission will receive an outline of the final report of its study group on organization and the planning process at 9:45 a.m. Thursday in room 1194 of the State Building, 445 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco. 'We Can Keep The Christmas Spirit In Marin'

By GRACE HENDERSON

"People say it's a shame we can't keep the Christmas spirit all year. This is the Christmas spirit," and with this comment Mrs. R. L. Hicks of San Rafael launched into one of her favorite subjects, that of the Mississippi Box Project.

Mrs. Hicks, along with about 50 other families in Marin, is sending help to needy persons in Mississippi and other southern states on a one-to-one basis. She recently accepted the responsibility as chairman for the project for all of the county.

Mrs. Gilbert Pozlovski of San Rafael described the feeling as having a "personal relationship with another mother of young children." The Pozlovskis, who have three children, ages seven, three and an infant, have been contributing to a mother and her four children in Mississippi for the past five months.

ONE BOX each week goes to the southern family and includes clothing, both outgrown from their own children and purchased items, household utensils, food and a little money. Recently Mrs. Pozlovski traced the outline of her child's foot as an example for the Mississippi mother to follow in showing the size of her children's feet. The shoes sent, now that Joyce Pozlovski knows the sizes, will enable the children to attend school.

Why is she doing it? "Because it involves children," she said, adding that the project had been brought to her attention over radio station KGO, the Jim Dunbar talk show. She, like the others, felt this was a chance to show true concern for their fellow men.

She now plans to draw attention to the need through her local school paper, asking for other volunteers. Her eyes expressed her enthusiasm as she displayed letters received from a grateful fivesome, the undercurrent of which was love and God's blessing. It was catching.

MRS. JOHN L. LEVINSOHN (Jane) of San Rafael has been described as a "one-man action committee" and is proving so with her participation in the Mississippi project. Her ardor is dampened, just a little, by comments from well-meaning persons who pretend to admire the dedicated Marin families involved, saying "It's so wonderful you are doing this," but who, themselves, decline to assist.

Jane has taken her appeal to members of the local medical profession with gratifying response. One dentist donated tooth brushes and toothpaste. Physicians have contributed samples of vitamins to supplement vitamin C tablets purchased by women in the project.

SOME CHURCHES have come into the project with true social concern. The Marin Unitarian Fellowship has two families being assisted by eight women. One family is in Virginia, the other in Mississippi. Mrs. Sage Morris of Kentfield is in charge.

Interest among the needy in most southern states has made the project spread. Originally the idea stemmed from a letter written by Mrs. Virginia Naeve of North Hatley, Canada to Mrs. Martin Luther King asking for names of families in Mississippi who might be able to use clothing her children had outgrown. She was quickly joined by others and the name will be changed to reflect the area served. It will soon become the Southern States Box Project.

FAITH LUTHERAN CHURCH of San Rafael has placed five families with parishioners, with Mrs. Hicks taking the reins as Marin County coordinator. And another church group of about 20 women sends help to two families, one in Mississippi and one in Georgia. Taking the responsibility for Congregation Kol Shofar is Mrs. Evelyn Johnson of San Rafael. "It is most gratifying," she remarked on the past nine months of contact with the families.

California now has approximately 300 families involved in helping Americans in the south; San Jose has the most, with Marin a close second.

ANOTHER ASPECT of the project came this summer with the arrival of Nettie Coleman, a college freshman, from Mississippi. She came at the invitation and under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pill of San Rafael.

In writing to a radio station, Mrs. Pill said of their experience, "The first few days were difficult; Nettie was very shy and probably quite frightened. We had no way of knowing how strange the simplest things were to her. It took me 10 days to realize she didn't know how to use the toaster. Her big excitements the first few weeks were over the automatic car wash, the postage stamp machine, a taco at a drive-in."

"... SHE HELPS around the house just as any visiting teenage girl would. Our lives are immeasurably fuller; there's more laughter, more fun. My husband and our two sons have each given up something to make room for Nettie, but in return we have already gained so much. . ."

Following her stay, and plans for college here, the petite student who was both shy and pleasant, returned to her home because of a death in her family. While in Marin, Nettie became the only Negro girl to become a member of the USO Mobile Unit and she is missed.

THE PILLS are not out of the program with Nettie's going. They were assisting a family before she came and will continue. As to others coming to live in Marin "There will be more, I'm sure," says Audrey Pill.

Many of these people do have other sources of help but with many shacks or homes sheltering up to a dozen children, there is never enough for a bare existance much less to make school possible. Some receive welfare and some are on the food stamp program. All receiving assistance are in dire need and are verified by clergy and welfare workers who know the extent of their poverty.

MRS. VIBEKE MATTHIES of San Francisco coordinates the California people involved, adding 300 families this past year. Mrs. Matthies plans to move to Sleepy Hollow in October and will continue her interest on a statewide level.

Why would a woman from Copenhagen, Denmark be interested in the problems of the poor in America?

"The more I learned that we send foreign aid all over the globe while people in our country literally starve to death, I wondered why more families were not helping here. I have found the project so rewarding: knowing exactly where my help is going rather than to some 'fund' and how little it takes to make some family happy!" she explained.

"SO, WITH THE BACKING of Jim Dunbar on KGO and Ron Reynolds on KNEW (who is also helping a family), and by word of mouth from helpers who find the project rewarding, I have placed approximately 300 families with Californians since I began on Nov. 15, 1967."

LOCAL FAMILIES tell of the excitement expressed by persons who are too poor even to own a mailbox and must go to a neighbor's home to pick up their mail (actually they are not accustomed to receiving anything). "It is so like Christmas," one mother wrote.

Emergencies are handled first, and an evangelistic spirit hangs over the women who express their gratitutde for the abundant living they enjoy as compared to their southern friends.

"We hope to clear up the backlog of names soon" said Mrs. Hicks explaining why she accepted the county chairmanship.

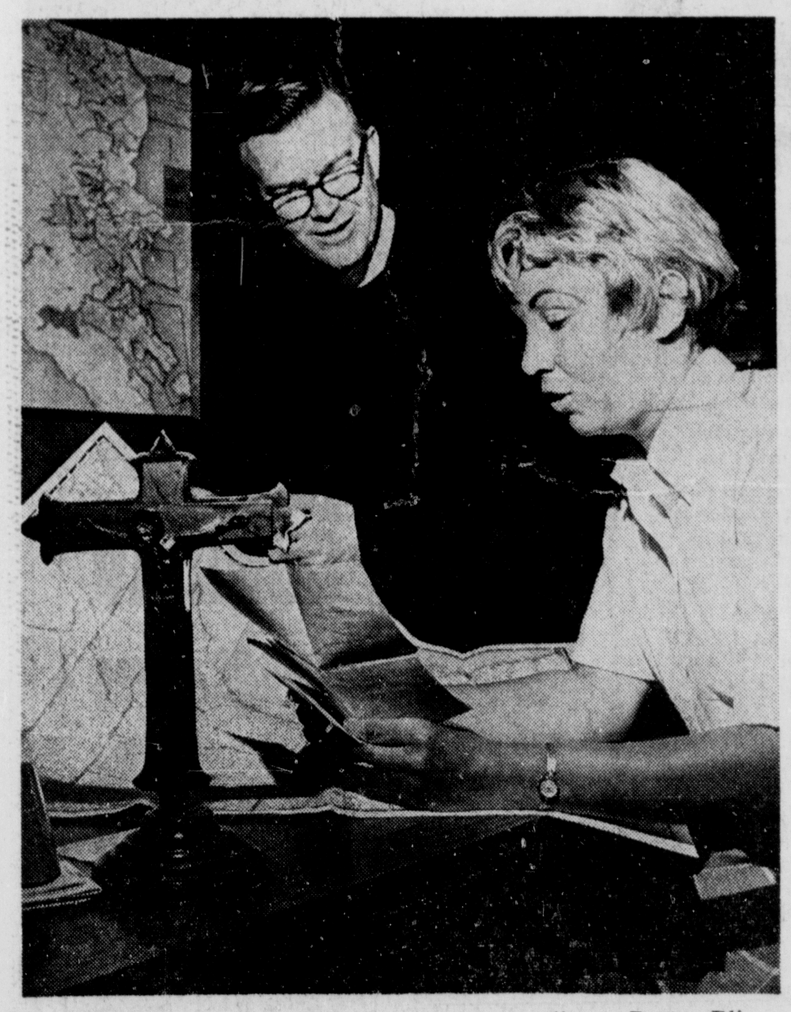
WHAT DOES IT TAKE to "make it seem like Christmas?" It takes a medium size box of clothing, dry goods including blankets, towels, powdered milk, gelatin, powdered foods of all kinds, canned goods, small sewing boxes, personal hygiene items, school supplies and writing pad and ballpoint pen for the head of the family (self-addressed postcards or envelopes are usually included for the family to use in responding). All boxes are insured for protection against their being usurped.

Some families include a money order (small) now and then or maybe a dollar bill when writing. Often this pays the electric bill for a month or prevents service from being discontinued.

HUNGER may not be a respector of area or region, and Americans may be callous in some ways, but when it comes to helping children there is no limit to the possibilities between Marin County and the southern United States, the women believe.

"I OBVIOUSLY must have help with my sending to 13 children, a mother and grandmother," and help comes from friends and neighbors for Mrs. Keith Bergman of San Rafael. The three Bergman boys join in the campaign with Billy, 3, helping mother in front of Faith Lutheran Church where they attend Sunday school and church. The Bergmans hope to adopt a little Korean girl in the near future. In the background Emily Hicks, 3, listens as Pastor Bliss Bellinger discusses outgoing items with Mrs. R. L. Hicks of San Rafael who recently accepted responsibility for the Southern States Project in Marin County.

PERSONAL RELATIONSHIP with another mother of small children brought Mrs. Gilbert Pozlovski of San Rafael to participation in the Mississippi Box Project. More than 50 families in Marin are involved with sending boxes of necessities to people in the southern United States. Helping Mrs. Pozlovski pack the weekly box that will go to a mother and her four children, are daughters Lisa, 3, and Julie, 7. Dry foods, clothing and, once in a while, treats are included.



"THIS IS REAL person to person contact" was Pastor Bliss Bellinger's response to five parishioners' interest in the Mississippi Box Project. Pastor Bellinger hopes that more will accept the responsibility of a family, either by themselves or in cooperation with others, to carry out the church's concern for people in the south. He confers with Mrs. William Thompson of Santa Venetia over a letter received acknowledging a box of items. An action table is planned for the church narthex calling attention to the project.

"OH MOTHER, I can't wear this any more" says Julie to her mother, Mrs. Pozlovski, about a coat much too small. It will go into a box for their Mississippi friends. Julie, a second grader at San Pablo Elementary School, enjoys sharing clothing and toys with the less fortunate children. Stamp books have provided a set of plastic dishes for their family and augment the one tin plate from which the five had been eating their greens and cornbread. Sometimes there are peas from the field, the mother wrote, as she told of God's love and blessing.

Carnaby Street Is Changing

By WALTER LOGAN

LONDON (UPI) — Swinging London's male fashions are in a state of flux.

Carnaby Street with its tinsel gaudiness is going conservative. Staid Saville Row has come up with a country suit with Peter Pan collar and suede belt. Both Queen Elizabeth's dressmakers are designing men's clothes.

Patrick, the Earl of Lichfield, whose stately home has more bedrooms then Blenheim Palace, is going to New York to open a boutique that will feature antique silver buckles to be worn at the throat of a ruffled evening shirt in lieu of a black tie.

King's Road, which outdid Carnaby Street at the height of the mod fuss, is showing threebutton suits. The British Menswear Guild, which first introduced the nipped in British look, has fixed it so men whose waists go out look as if they were going in.

Carnaby Street revisited is rather sad. It is a tourist attraction now, not a style leader. The suits, often of sleazy looking material, sometimes are as conservative as Brooks Brothers, but badly cut. The style comes from flaming purple shirts with ruffles or bell bottomed slacks spread further with what the ladies call gores.

Saville Row, which doesn't even like to advertise because it considers it undignified, outdid itself at a collection designed for the recent Tel Aviv Congress of the World Federation of Master Tailors, a fairly stuffy body which reluctantly uses zippers on trousers when it would prefer buttons.

Anthony Sinclair, who dresses Sean Connery in the James Bond movie series, used a heavy white and yellow chalk stripe on royal blue for a jacket with fly front (buttons) and flared sleeves. Hawes and Curtis, which dresses Prince Philip, designed a frock coat wedding suit with velvet collar and antique silver buttons.

Louis Stanbury produced an ocean blue cocktail suit without lapels, worn with a topcoat that has no sleeves. Henry Poole got his kicks with extremely unusual panelling on brown shetland cheviot tweed jackets made with darker pants. Huntsman made a three-piece country outfit with a Peter Pan collar, suede belt and deep cuffs on the sleeves.

Hardy Amies, one of the Queen's couturiers, already has made a name for himself and a considerable fortune designing for Hepworth, known in England as multiple shops and in the United States as chain stores, and for that giant American outfit, Genesco. His latest creations carry further his long, lean look in suits and cape-like flair in topcoats. Now the colors are brighter.

THE TINSEL gaudiness of London's swinging male fashions seems to have disappeared, with trends now being on the conservative side. Shown are two creations by Norman Hartnell. Left is a double-breasted suit with cut-away buttonless jacket and welted cross pockets. The straight cut waistcoat features slanted pockets. Right, a ginger breasted suit with cuffed button jacket has welted cross pockets and side vents. (UPI Telephoto)

Improve Foyer With Ideas

The foyer is a small, but important room that should be given special attention in your remodeling and redecorating plans.

If it's positioned badly and, for example, puts your guests right in the middle of things as soon as they enter, move it. There's seldom an architectural reason for not moving the front entrance of a home.

The foyer's decor should be indicative of what visitors can expect in the rest of your home. It should express your family's personality through its design and your own housekeeping abilities through its cleanliness. Such a decor requires the extensive use of styling components like ceramic tile which allows imaginative decorative scheming and is wear-resistant, durable and, above all, easy to maintain.

Finally, if your entryway's dark, brighten it. Use fixtures that'll shed adequate light, add a window or two or, if possible, replace the solid wall around your front door with a wall of glass.

AFTER A WEDDING trip to Las Vegas, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Cerruti will live in San Rafael. The bride is the former Barbara J. Segale of San Rafael. The couple exchanged vows at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. (Faulkner photo)

Dietitian To Instruct Weekly Course In Weight Reduction

The fall series of weight reduction classes will get under way Oct. 1 at Marin General Hospital from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The twelve-week course, sponsored by the Marin County Heart Association, will be held each Tuesday evening and will be instructed by Pamela Gilroy, registered dietitian.

The series is planned for overweight persons whose problem is based on improper diet and overeating.

Both men and women may register for instructions and all are eligible upon physician referral as a 1200-calorie base will be used throughout the 12-week course. Based on previous class results, anticipated weight loss is expected to be one and one-half pounds per week.

Shopping pointers for low calorie foods, cooking tips for meats and vegetables, dietary helps when eating out and keeping saturated fats down will be among areas of study.

Instruction also focuses on food preparation around the whole meal pattern, selection of foods for varied menus and learning to adapt recipes for appealing meals while holding to low calorie count.

Sessions also include films, physician speakers, physical therapist and personal grooming expert.

Registration may be made with the Marin County Heart Association, or registrants may enroll during opening night of course at Marin General Hospital, Coral Room.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

There's a couple in Mill Valley whose names are Juan and Carolina. Juan is Juan Aymerick, Barcelona-born Spanish citizen, temporarily a Marinite. Carolina is Spanish, too. But although Juan sometimes feels like he is married to her, she is not his wife. Carolina is a car—one of the rarest of rare automobiles. She's a 1928 Nacional Pescara, hailed as a masterpiece of automotive creativity. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown tells the story of Juan and Carolina in tomorrow's issue.

The roster of Marinites with unusual and interesting hobbies seems unending. And one of the most fascinating of those activities is that of Mimi Berticevich of Tiburon. With the help of the members of her family, piece by piece, she has assembled a miniature country store of 1890 vintage, authentic in every detail. The typewriter and the camera of free-lancer Gil Pearson have been focused upon Mimi and her store for Lilliputians for a special report for tomorrow's weekend supplement.

Mill Valley Set To Enter U.S. Clean-up Event

Mill Valley's paint-up, clean-up program will be entered in the national clean-up, paint-up, fix-up contest, the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce has announced.

The contest is sponsored by the National Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Bureau in Washington, D. C. Judging will be in February.

The chamber will submit a scrap book and report outlining the city's activities for the past two years in improving the appearance on its business areas, Mrs. Jan Mountjoy, paint-up coordinator, said.

Cities of any size may enter the contest which judges efforts toward self-help and the extent to which goals are achieved, Mrs. Mountjoy said.

Thus far 34 businesses and property owners have participated in the program which started in 1966. The Tiburon firm of Callister and Payne is the project's color consultants.

ABAG Financial Review Slated

Detailed reports on the financial health of the Association of Bay Area Governments will be presented to its general assembly at 9 a.m. Sept. 27 at the Hotel Claremont, Berkeley.

The future of the association has been uncertain since it was discovered early this year that its assistant director stole $511,000 in association funds.

Also on the agenda for the semiannual meeting is the setting of planning policies for a regional plan.

Phoenix Journey Meeting Topic

"A Christian View of Vietnam" will be the theme of a meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Alexander Lounge at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo.

The discussion will be preceded by a showing of "Voyage of the Phoenix," a film of a Quaker delivery of medical supplies to North Vietnam. Phillip Drath, Democratic nominee in the Sixth congressional District and a member of the crew on the voyage, will lead the discussion.

The public discussion will be led by seminarians Gerard Weiss and Douglas Huneke.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The Council's findings are from California and National PTA magazines and the "Film Report" of the Film Estimate board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael or Mill Valley libraries.

FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY:

"One and Only, Genuine Original Family Band" — American polictics of 1888 provides a period background for a Disney musical.

"Shakiest Gun in the West" — Don Knotts upon graduating from dental school seeks his fortune in the wild West of the 1880's.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Bandolero" — Well made, well cast, violent western has background of fine desert scenery.

"Biggest Bundle of Them All" — Farcical felony begins when a former Chicago hood is kidnapped for ransom by a group of amateur gangsters who don't know he is broke.

"Devil's Brigade" — World War II story of training and battle experiences of First Special Service Force made up of Canadians and Americans. Good solid acting, honest realism. Brigade fulfills the destiny for which its members were brought together.

"Elvira Madigan" — Tragic love story in a Swedish film of rare beauty.

"Hombre" — Captured by Apaches as a child, Paul Newman finds it hard to adjust to the white world of eastern Arizona in the 1880's. Strong script, characters are well chosen.

"Interlude" — Poignant interlude is relived when former partners of a tender love affair meet again. England at its springtime best, tastefully photographed.

"Odd Couple" — Beautifully acted and directed humorous character study of two divorced men sharing an apartment.

"Whisperers" — Film of moving realism is really a study of loneliness in destitute old age, played compassionately by a magnificent acress, Dame Edith Evans.

BORDERLINE: (Some say Adults Only)

"Bride Wore Black" — Woman avenges her husband's death by murdering the five men responsible.

"Hang 'Em High" — This movie raises interesting questions about the gap between law and justice. Tale of a man who survives his own hanging to track down his lynchers.

"Producers" — Farce about a crooked producer who schemes to make millions by producing a flop. Artless, dull film which emphasizes lewd characters and perversion.

"Sebastian" — English comedy is fast moving and "mod" with plot thickners involving spies and LSD. Confused plot and ethics.

"Wicked Dreams of Paula Schulz" — Girl pole-vaulter dreams of vaulting over the wall into West Germany. Poor script, infantile sex humor, tasteless direction spoil story which handled differently would have entertained.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Lady L" — Adaptation of Romain Gary's sophisticated novel. The life story of a lady with a past. Reconstruction of early years of century in French, Swiss and English settings is rich and colorful.

"Rachel, Rachel" — Heavy-handed study of a repressed spinster trying to break out of her barren, frustrating existence.

"Secret Life of an American Wife" — Satirical farce about sex life of 34 year old mother before and after marriage. Nudity, risque dialogue and adultery are casually presented.

"Thomas Crown Affair" — Plotting and execution of big bank robberies is ingenious. Criminal and investigator become involved in torrid love affair. Crime pays well in this case. Very modern treatment: all phases of immorality are taken for granted.

Japanese Festival Slated At Northgate

Michigan Medical School Joins Heart Transfer List

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Surgeons performed the world's 49th and 50th heart transplants yesterday — the 50th at the University of Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor, the first such surgery in Michigan, and the other at Methodist Hospital at Houston, Tex., where 14 previous transplants have occurred.

Philip T. Barnum, 49, of Kalamazoo, received the heart of an unidentified 37-year-old man at the Michigan hospital.

Barnum, a father of four, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Doctors said Barnum has been suffering from cardiomyopathy, a degenerative disease of the heart. The donor was described only as a stroke victim.

Names of the doctors who operated on Barnum were not immediately disclosed. The medical center has become known for its success in kidney transplants.

At Houston, the 50th heart recipient was identified as Bernard E. Pfohl, 57, an engineer, of Jacksonville, Fla. A hospital spokesman said the donor was Robert Gordon Muir, 46, of Baytown, Tex., who died from a self-inflicted bullet wound of the head. Pfohl's condition was reported as satisfactory.

Ten of the heart transplant recipients at the Houston hospital survive.

The 14th Houston heart patient, Dusan Vlaco, 16, of Elemir, Yugoslavia, was reported in good condition yesterday. He received his new heart on Wednesday.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Sept. 20, the 264th day of 1968 th 102 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1519, Portuguese navigator Ferdinand Magellan began a voyage to find a western passage to the Indies. Although Magellan died, one of the five vessels completed the trip around the world.

In 1873, financial chaos caused the New York Stock Exchange to close its doors.

In 1881, the United Nations admitted 13 African nations in the opening of a turbulent General Assembly session attended by several Communist leaders.

A thought for the day — English philosopher John Locke said: "It is one thing to show a man that he is in error, another to put him in possession of the truth."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Sometimes Razzle-Dazzle Play Pays Off Even At Slam Bidding

If you like razzle-dazzle and hanky-panky you may enjoy a hand played in the recent national tournament in Minneapolis. Mrs. Gayle Clarke, runner-up in the Mixed Pair Championship, used the r-d and h-p in making adoubtful slam.

SOME MISCHIEF

Mrs. Clarke's bid of two spades on the South hand caused some of the mischief. Her partner, Bill Flannery, assumed that the cue-bid showed the ace of spades or a void, coupled with a very powerful hand. Flannery's jump to six hearts was perhaps as ambitious as Mrs. Clarke's bid was misleading.

West opened the six of spades, and East won with the king. Mrs. Clarke dropped the queen of spades, a bit of hanky-panky that wouldn't fool any reader of this column. We know that West wouldn't lead the six of spades from 8-7-6-3; and, besides, we can see the three of spades in the South hand.

Perhaps East wasn't thinking hard that day, or perhaps South was very convincing with her play of the queen of spades. At any rate, East shifted to the eight of hearts at the second trick, and her ace of spades went to sleep.

TRUMP SQUEEZE

Mrs. Clarke ran four trumps, discarding the low club from dummy. Then she ran the five diamonds, discarding the two black threes from her hand.

At this point East had to reduce to three cards. If she kept only one spade South would ruff a spade and win the last two tricks in dummy with the ace of clubs and the jack of spades. East therefore kept only one club.

CASHES ACE

Mrs. Clarke thereupon cashed dummy's ace of clubs, dropping East's unguarded king. She won the last two tricks with her last trump and the queen of clubs, ending the razzle-dazzle.

ty in any proposed building program," the petition said.

Next came an announcement from David Bersin of the executive council of the associated students that the student body is in effect cutting its funding of the college athletic program by $7,800.

The council voted Monday to apply that amount to paying coach and insurance costs out of athletic funds rather than out of funds that will now go for school and community benefits, Bersin said.

At a noon meeting yesterday, the council agreed to urge that the board resume its obligation for that amount of the funding, Bersin said.

SAF spokesman John Ruchenski told the board his organization won five seats on the executive council last spring after promising a redirection of student funds.

The money taken from the athletic program might go toward such programs as the hiring of a part-time draft counselor for the male students on campus and the establishment of a student tutorial program, he said.

The athletic program would still be getting $10,000 a year from the student body, he said, if one included coach fees and insurance.

Trustee Elizabeth M. D eedy told the students their request should have been made during the board's budget hearings.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver said the suggestion ''sounds interesting," but added he would like to know what the students plan to do with their re-allocated money, how they would do it and how much it would cost.

"The funds would be student directed. We don't want to have to get approval for the programs," said Bersin.

Bersin said the students would like an open meeting between the executive council, the board, faculty and members of the athletic department to determine the fate of this year's athletic program.

Athletic Director Harry J. Pieper asked for time to study the suggestion.

"I believe the athletic program can be supported by a group other than the student government or the board, but this will take some study," he said.

Pieper said later he is considering forming an athletic association and giving free admission to games to anyone buying an athletic card. Ownership of a student body card would not entitle a person to free admission, he said.

Student body vice president Patrick Blake complained that the present system "puts us in a position where sports take most of our expenses."

McGinn reminded the board members that their only purpose and the only purpose of campus administrators is to work for the students.

Joseph D. Gargiulo, a former student of the college, a former trustee and now a Novato city councilman, joined the student battle.

"I am against the construction of physical education facilities first. The library here today is the same library we had 20 years ago, and it was inadequate then," Gargiulo said.

He urged abandonment of present priorities and emphasis on construction of a North Marin campus to relieve the enrollment at the Kentfield campus.

Raymond Lawler, another student, declared the executive council action on athletic funds illegal. Four of those who voted do not have student body cards, he said.

An unidentified football player complained: "What about the football team? We're in the middle. What are we going to do with football, just cut it out for the rest of the season?"

Trustees assured him that would not happen. They instructed college administrators and faculty to meet with students today to discuss their grievances.

Acting President Louis H. Herkenhoff promised to have a report for the board Oct. 3.

"I'm happy to see this kind of student interest," he said.

The students, unhappy at the board response, strode from the meeting room after Bersin shouted: "Come on, they won't listen to you."

Oliver later told Herkenhoff he wants the board to receive regular reports on student activities.

Dean Diamond told the board: "I think we are all aware of the tone of students today. Things have changed considerably. They are interested in all things going on and they are going to make themselves heard."

When Diamond reported the SAF is proposing a change in the student constitution, Mrs. Deedy said:

"We have long encouraged student participation. I just hope that any change is accomplished in a thoroughly democratic way. All should have the right to speak without pressure or intimidation."

French Draft University Reform Laws

PARIS (AP) — A bill giving students a policymaking voice in France's universities has been approved by the French Cabinet. The bill, approved yesterday, is to be submitted within the next few days to the National Assembly, and the big Gaullist majority is expected to ratify it swiftly.

Protests over France's outmoded, inadequate university system triggered widespread student disorders last spring. The strife spread to the country's laborers and paralyzed the economy for weeks.

The reform measure gives the students a voice at all levels of financial, educational and administrative policies. The government will surrender control over the educational program, examination system and internal security in the schools. But it will retain some form of control since it will continue to dispense money appropriated by the Parliament.

Bond Stand Delayed

The Marin County Labor Council postponed action Wednesday on a request that it endorse Tamalpais High School District's $10.9 million bond measure on the November ballot. A composing room error in yesterday's Independent-Journal said the council "proposed" action on the request.

Anti-Kennedy Suit Tossed Out

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — $12 million suit against Joseph P. Kennedy in connection with the 1964 prosecution of the James R. Hoffa case by the late Robert F. Kennedy was dismissed yesterday in Federal Court. Judge William Mehrtens ruled the court lacked jurisdiction.

The suit was filed by Benjamin Dranow, former Minneapolis, Minn., businessman convicted with Teamsters President Hoffa and five others.

Dranow contended that Robert F. Kennedy, then attorney general, prosecuted Hoffa, Dranow and the others on directions from his father, Joseph P. Kennedy. The defendants were convicted of conspiracy to milk the Teamsters pension fund of $25 million through phony loans.

LBJ Selects Atomic Commissioner

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson got in some office work at his LBJ Ranch today and announced he will nominate Francesco Costagliola of Rhode Island to be a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Costagliola, 51, from Cranston, R.I., has been a staff consultant to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

He will fill an unexpired term that runs until June 30, 1969.

Watson Ballot Controversy Is Civic Topic

The Watson initiative (Proposition 9 on the Nov. 5 ballot) which would strip schools and welfare of property tax support, will be discussed at a meeting of the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen Thursday at Sabella's of Marin, Mill Valley.

Marin County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel will speak on the amendment at a meeting which begins with a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p.m.

The council is expected to discuss the Bay Conservation and Development Commission plan, the county vacation policy, firearms control and a county-wide salary schedule for police and firemen.

A new chairman will be elected to succeed Neil R. Brixon, Larkspur city councilman.

Guilty Plea Entered In Check Forgery

Robert Harvey Christman, 28, of Hayward, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of passing a forged check June 15 in San Rafael. A second forgery count was dismissed.

Christman was ordered to appear ta 11 a.m. Oct. 14 in Marin Superior Court for sentencing.

Ramstad Given Offer To Buy Out Contract

Marin Junior College District trustees announced last night they have negotiated a compromise conclusion to the contract of William K. Ramstad, the district superintendent who quit in April in the face of faculty protests. (Another College story, page 1.)

Under the compromise, Ramstad will continue to work for the district until Jan. 31, when the district will buy up the remaining two and a half years of his contract for $ 12,500.

TO REVIEW FINANCES

Until Jan. 31, Ramstad's assignment will be to review the district's financial situation and recommend a course of action through which the district may "more satisfactorily meet its indicated financial needs," said board Chairman Theodore C. Wellman.

Since offering to quit, but not specifying a date of resignation, Ramstad has continued to work on plans for the district's northern campus.

What Ramstad asked was not disclosed, but the educator's attorney, E. Warren McGuire of San Rafael, said last night it was more than $12,500 and Ramstad's approval will be necessary before the contract termination is final.

Ramstad refused to quit the $26,100 a year post until he found comparable employment or the district agreed to buy his contract. With fringe benefits, the contract was worth $30,000 a year.

When paid $12,500 on Jan. 31, Ramstad will relinquish all rights to the remainder of his four-year-contract, which runs to June 30, 1971.

JOB TIMING

McGuire said the final payment was necessary to carry the educator through to the end of the school year, when it will be easier for him to obtain employment.

Wellman noted that Ramstad is "willing and desirous to continue to serve as district superintendent for the full term of the contract" but added "it has been determined his continued employment would not be in the best interest of the district."

Student Injured In Bike-Car Wreck

A college of Marin student was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered when his bicycle collided with a car yesterday at 7:45 p.m. on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Marinda Drive, Fairfax.

James A. Colla, 20, of 335 Olema Drive, Fairfax, was admitted with a concussion and lacerations of the head. Police reported his unlighted bicycle collided with a car driven by Willard T. Little, 42, of 28 Oak Tree Lane, Fairfax.

FORGIVING MOOD

Pop Artist Throws Another Big Bash

NEW YORK (AP(— There were superstars galore last night as Andy Warhol, pop artist and producer of underground movies, hosted his first party since he was shot by one of his proteges early in June.

"He's even more profound and more beautiful now than before if that's possible," said Ingrid Superstar of the man who has two paintings of Campbell Soup cans in the Museum of Modern Art.

Warhol himself said he saw no "new Warhol" as a result of the shooting.

"Before I thought it would be fun to be dead. Now I know it's fun to be alive," said Warhol whose movie "The Chelsea Girls" was the first underground movie to be shown in commercial theaters.

"It didn't change Andy," said Brigid Polk. "He's today. That was yesterday."

The party, at "The Factory"—his studio in Greenwich Village—was thrown for the introduction of Nico's new album, "The Marble Index," an ear-piercing 16 minutes that everyone said was beautiful.

"It truly was," said Warhol. "Nico spent the whole summer writing it in the bathtub. She works well there."

Besides Ingrid, Brigid and Nico, Viva Superstar and Ivy Nicholson were present. International Velvet was in Europe and Ultra Violet was a no-show.

The 200 or so guests, dressed in Indian headbands, dresses that opened to the waist, one wedding gown, a few tuxedos, velvet suits, and dirty blue jeans, sat on the floor of Andy's studio to sip wine—1947 vintage—and eat picnic lunches.

Warhol, a pale man who streaks his hair silver, has decided not to press charges against Valeria Solanis, the 28-year-old actress charged in the shooting that kept him in the hospital for nearly two months. She is undergoing psychiatric treatment.

Nico, a tall redhead who refuses to give her age—"I'm too old to talk about it—said her album was "like a movie. It has all the senses in it and it is in my line," which is Warhol talk for doing your own thing.

Will it succeed?

"Of course. There's very little good music around."

College Slates Checkup On Out-Of-State Students

How many out-of-state students are attending College of Marin illegally? Marin County College District trustees asked last night.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy asked administrators for a report on "residence requirements of our students, particularly those whose homes are not in California and never have been.

"Each year, I find we have students who are not legal residents. I don't think our open door policy extends to the other 49 states. We need some control of this," she said.

If a student is under 21 years old and from out of state, he must pay non-resident fees. If over 21, he can avoid the fees by simply swearing he plans to be a permanent resident of the state, explained Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond.

If a student gives a local address, the college does not normally check the veracity of his statement, said Diamond, who promised a report to the board within three weeks.

Visitor To Sausalito Faces Weapon Counts

Gary David Blair, 35, of San Francisco, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing a loaded gun and possessing a tear gas shell in Sausalito.

Blair was arrested early yesterday by Sausalito police. He was ordered to appear Thursday to plead to the charges.

Membership Plans Slated By Chamber

Final plans for the general membership meeting of the Novato Chamber of Commerce at 8 p.m. next Thursday at the Novato Community House were made by the board of directors last night at the Indian Valley Golf Club.

Items placed on the agenda for the meeting were the development of the north Marin campus of the College of Marin, changes in the chamber bylaws, the $3 million street bond issue in the Nov. 5 election, the cleanup campaign in October and the expansion of Gnoss Field, according to Bille Garl, secretary.

The Novato Chamber of Commerce board also:

CAMPUS — Set noon Oct. 3, at the Lodge, to hear a report from Trustee Theodore C. Wellman of the Marin Junior College district board, on the development plans for the north Marin campus.

STUDY — Heard a report from chamber president George Barnwell that Arthur D. Little Co. of San Francisco, wants approximately $6,000 to make a study of housing in Novato as a part of the proposed federally assisted downtown study.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Ross Wright from the board. Wright, local manager of Western California Telephone Co., resigned because of press of business.

OFFICES — Approved the use of the chamber office by the Citizens for Better Streets Committee until the Nov. 5 $3 million bond vote for street improvements.

DRIVE — Set Oct. 17 as a one-day membership drive for 20 members.

SLOGAN — Approved appointing a committee from the board to be done later by the president, to select a winner in the slogan contest which the chamber is sponsoring. The three final entries by the slogan committee were: "Valley of Gentle Seasons," "Country Living with City Comforts," and "Our Master Plan Includes You."

Athletic Fund Appeal Set By Student

The College of Marin student body president this morning agreed to try to talk the student council into restoring enough money to the athletic budget at least to make it through the football season while an "in depth" study of the situation is made.

David Long, college student president, and John Ruchenski, Students for Academic Freedom leader, met with college administrators, faculty and athletic representatives to talk over Monday's drastic cutting of the athletic budget by the executive council of the associated students.

Although Long said he could not speak for the whole council, he will try to convince the group at a meeting Monday that commitments already made for this fall should be paid for out of the student budget.

Earlier this week, the council re-allocated $7,800 from student funds for athletics, leaving only $2,200 to pay for transportation of athletes, food and lodging during out-of-town games and other athletic expenses.

Calvin Riemcke, basketball coach, told the students today that the athletic department feels it "has been used" by the militant students as a means to force the college board of trustees to carry out student wishes.

Ruchenski agreed that the main aim of the Students for Academic Freedom, the militant group, which now has five representatives on the 10-member student council, is to make the board responsive to student demands.

"You asked for participation in campus affairs and then have scared everyone to death by not accepting anyone's decision but your own," college academic senate president Samuel Schwartz told Ruchenski.

Young Kidnap Victim Recovered In Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI said it recovered early today a 7-year-old boy from his kidnapers who had demanded $125,000 in ransom after abducting the child Wednesday in a Chicago suberb.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the boy, Hillard Willis Marks of Oak Brook, Ill., was found in a home on Chicago's West Side.

Hoover said three persons were arrested in connection with kidnaping the youth who was returning home from Monroe Elementary School in nearby Hinsdale.

An FBI spokesman said the boy was abducted by two persons in a late model car.

Shortly after the kidnaping, a $125,000 ransom was demanded of the boy's father, William E. Marks, operator of a Chicago manufacturing firm, through a series of telephone calls, the spokesman said.

The ransom was not paid, he added.

The spokesman said the three suspects probably will be turned over to local authorities for prosecution. He said federal intervention is not required because the boy was not taken across state lines.

Poll Against Any Apology In Capture Of The Pueblo

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than half of the respondents to a recent nationwide poll believe President Johnson should not apologize to North Korea to secure the release of the Pueblo crew.

The results of the poll were released yesterday by Sindlinger & Co., a market analysis firm based in Norwood, Pa. The company compiled the poll through telephone interviews with 1,464 persons in every state except Alaska and Hawaii between Sept. 16 and Sept. 18.

The survey showed 55.3 per cent opposed Johnson apologizing and 31.7 per cent favored an apology. The poll showed 12.9 with no opinion.

The poll asked this question: "The North Koreans say they will release the crew of the Pueblo only when President Johnson personally apologizes. Do you agree or disagree that Johnson should apologize to release the crew?"

Sindlinger prepares its polls for 38 institutional clients who subscribe to the Sindlinger Daily Survey.

Bagshaw Careers To Be Honored

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Thomas Fred Bagshaw of Mill Valley, an assistant director of the mammoth California Department of Public Works, will be honored for almost a half-century of distinguished public service tomorrow in Crescent City at a Redwood Empire Association tesitmonial banquet.

Bagshaw will retire Mar. 1, five days after his 70th birthday.

"Looking for a job," was his answer when asked what he will do then. "I'll do something, that's sure," insisted Bagshaw, who has been working since he finished eighth grade in Mill Valley.

He graduated "without unusual honors from Old Mill Grammar School and then went to work," he once told an Independent-Journal interviewer, "and I've never been out of work since."

Bagshaw said he will continue living in his Mill Valley home of the past 30 years at 317 Hillside Avenue, a secluded spot on a sunny hillside.

Bagshaw was born in Cardiff, Wales, and his parents brought him to Mill Valley four years later, in 1903. The city — then only three years old, itself — was a summer resort with fewer than 1,000 permanent residents.

His wife, Allena (nee Huntoon), is a native of Mill Valley.

His first public office came when he was 21, with his appointment to the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

In 1929, Bagshaw was elected to the Mill Valley City Council,

T. FRED BAGSHAW

and served until 1939, the last eight years as mayor.

The present City Hall was built while he was mayor, in 1937 — at a cost of $45,000 — as were the golf course and tennis courts in Boyle Park.

Elected to the Marin County Board of Supervisors in 1939, Bagshaw served as its chairman all of his 12 years on the board.

During this period, he also served from 1940 to 1943 as a director of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, but resigned when a court test found it was a conflict of interest to serve on both boards.

While a bridge director, Bagshaw successfully opposed a plan by a San Francisco bond house to refinance and extend the $35 million bond issue that build the bridge. Bagshaw showed it would add $10 million in interest costs.

Incidentally, he believes the bridge eventually should be turned over to the state, on condition that the voters in the six-county district approve the changeover.

The bridge "should have the advantage of being maintained from gas tax funds" he believes, adding that toll revenues should be continued to underwrite a second crossing to Marin.

As a supervisor, Bagshaw worked to acquire Angel Island from the federal government as a county park. As it turned out, the state got the island — partly as a result of his drive.

Bagshaw also was a commentator for a while on radio station KTIM, and after each Monday's board meeting would rush to the studio and report on what had happened that day.

As chairman of the board, Bagshaw also was instrumental in pressuring the state to build the $56 million Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

In 1950, Bagshaw ran in a special election for the state Senate seat vacated by Thomas F. Keating, who resigned to become a superior court judge. Bagshaw lost to John F. McCarthy by 82 votes, and lost again to McCarthy in 1952.

Bagshaw got his first state job in 1953, when he was appointed as special assistant to the director of public works by Gov. Earl Warren.

In January, 1957, he was appointed assistant director of the department, and from Nov. 10, 1958, to Jan. 5, 1959, he was its director under Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

His brief tenure in the top spot ended when Gov. Edmund G. Brown took office, so Bagshaw dropped back to his permanent civil service post as an assistant director at $1,800 a month.

While in the top spot, Bagshaw also served as chairman of the California Highway Commission and member of the Toll Bridge Authority, Public Works Board, Allocation Board and several over state board, commissions and councils.

In his present job, Bagshaw commutes from Mill Valley and travels throughout the state's 58 counties troubleshooting for the public works department in local hearings on freeway and water problems. He also attends numerous highway meetings throughout the nation.

It was in these sensitive local hearings that Bagshaw won a statewide reputation for tact, patience, poise and dignity.

Bagshaw also was in business until he went to work for the state, and owned an import-export firm in San Francisco from 1929 to 1950, travelling extensively in China and Japan.

From 1944 to 1947, he owned and published the weekly Marin Journal, later part of the Independent-Journal.

Bagshaw has been active in the State Chamber of Commerce, State Supervisors Association, Redwood Empire Association, Bay Area Council, Commonwealth Club, San Rafael Elks Lodge, Marin Rod and Gun Club, Mill Valley Lodge 356 of the Free and Accepted Masons, Mill Valley Tennis Club and Mill Valley Rotary Club.

Living in Mill with the Bagshaws are their only daughter, Mrs. Barbara Spangler, and grandchildren Evelyn, 13, Debbie, 10, and Calvin, 9.

Bagshaw also has three brothers: John in San Rafael, Samuel in Mill Valley, and Sidney in the British West Indies.

Looking back on his career, Bagshaw once commented that his "most rewarding" public service was at the city and county level.

"Here you are able to actually see the results of your efforts," he said, "whereas in the state, it's gotten so big that you're a small part of a big operation."

For a self-made man who has been a big part of every operation for a long time, Bagshaw still has his modesty.

AMBULANCE SERVICE

Marin Preparing Countywide Plan

By WAT TAKESHITA

Direct emergency ambulance service to most of Marin, with backup service to areas having their own ambulance is planned under specifications being prepared by the county administrator's office.

County Administrator Alan Bruce reported today that the bid specifications call for an exclusive franchise to serve Novato, San Rafael, and southern Marin, both incorporated and unincorporated areas, with backup service for the three peripheral areas which have their own emergency ambulance service.

The three areas are West Marin (Bolinas to Pierce Point), covered by the Marin County fire department ambulance at Point Reyes Station; Stinson Beach, served by the Stinson Beach Fire District ambulance; and the area north of Marshall (Tomales, Dillon Beach and Chileno Valley Road), served under informal agreement with the Petaluma Police Department.

These, plus the Sausalito area, which is served by the Sausalito Fire Department, require backup because emergency ambulance service will be out of commission if firemen are called to a major fire.

The bid specifications call for a base rate per ambulance run and the mileage rate. The amount of the successful bid would be underwritten by the county. The ambulance firm would bill emergency patients at the normal private rate, and if the bill were not paid or only partially paid, the county would pay the balance up to the bid amount.

Three ambulances would be manned at all times for emergency service, one stationed at a central dispatch station in San Rafael, one in Novato and the third in or near Mill Valley. The company must agree to give backup service in the peripheral areas (West Marin, Stinson Beach and north of Marshall) when needed.

In the bids opened last week and rejected, two companies asked for subsidies of $2,500 and $3,500 per month for serving the Novato area.

Administrative analyst Timothy M. Jackson, who is working on the new specifications for countywide service, said subsidies are not provided in the specifications. "If one company serves the whole county, we feel there would be enough business so that there will be no need for subsidy in the Novato area." The only guarantee that the county would give is the base rate and mileage.

What if Novato or other communities should get its own full time ambulance service?

If that occurs, then a new contract may have to be written with the successful bidder, leaving that community out of its service area. But at present, the bid specifications call for full service or backup service for the entire county.

County Asks Rent From Drydocks

Marin County proposed today that the county be paid $50 a month rent for four drydocks parked on county tideland in Richardson Bay for the past two years, and asked for a $100 a day assessment if they are not removed within 30 days after a court order for removal.

The county reopened its suit against Delmar D. Wise, owner of the drydocks, in Marin Superior Court today. The drydocks have been lying off Sausalito for two years. The county won a suit against Wise earlier this year in Marin Municipal Court, but was overruled by the superior court.

Attorney Joseph Forrest said the county wants "fair rental value" for use of its tidelands by Wise, and wants an order for the drydocks removal within 30 days.

Wise's attorney, Frank C. S. Peterson, said Wise contents he has a right to have the drydocks there as a right of commerce. Wise contends the docks are floating and therefore not under county control. "The county owns the mud only — they don't own any water," Peterson said.

Forrest immediately attacked that defense with his first witness, Eraldo Zaro, chief surveyor for Marin County, who said the drydocks have not moved in three sightings taken since Jaunary, 1967.

He also said the drydocks did not rise with the tide when measurements were taken Sept. 10. Benchmarks showed the water rose 3.8 feet on the docks that day, a rise identical to tide chart predictions, he testified.

"The wind doesn't seem to affect them, or the tides. They're stuck in the mud," Zaro said.

The state of California is named as a co-defendant with Wise and his Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co., but attorney Dennis M. Egan appeared for the state and said California joins the county in asking the drydocks be ejected.

The state was named because of doubt over title to the tidelands.

BABY'S NAME: GOLDEN

Stork Makes Hasty Gate Span Landing

Golden Gate Bridge served as a delivery room yesterday — to the surprise of nervous bridge employees and an excited father.

Capt. Edward R. Moore reported a daughter was born in midspan at 9:25 a.m. to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Brainard of 328 Ridgewood Avenue, Mill Valley, who were on their way to the University of California Medical Center.

Brainard pulled alongside bridge employee Stephen Saft at the curb and called for help. Saft called Sgt. Louis Johnston at the toll plaza.

Johnston, shouting happily that it was his birthday, too, dispatched Sgt. Russell Gordier and Lt. Alfred Rustice to assist the young couple, Capt. Moore said.

When they arrived, the mother was calmly holding the baby in her arms.

The would-be midwives recommended the Brainards keep going assuring them U.C. hospital was only 10 minutes away, Moore reported.

Brainard returned later to pay his toll which had been forgotten in the excitement, but Capt Moore said it would be his contribution to the new baby.

Brainard told Captain Moore they would call the baby Golden and that she weighed seven pounds, 10 ounces.

Captain Moore said he invited Brainard to stop on his way home with the baby and he would give them an original rivet from the bridge as a souvenir for the child.

Special ABAG Panel Set To Study Commuter Tax

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A special committee to recommend whether San Francisco should be condemned for its 1 per cent commuter tax was appointed last night by the executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Immediate condemnation was urged by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, but association president James P. Kenny, a Contra Costa County supervisor, argued successfully against "hasty action."

He recommended hearing San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto before taking a position. The committee, to which Marin Supervisor John F. McInnis was appointed, did not set a date to meet.

Several San Francisco supervisors favor pulling out of the association, and condemnation of the city could trigger just such a withdrawal — leaving a gaping hole in ABAG and perhaps even triggering other withdrawals, too.

The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments also:

NEW MONEY — Received $65,000 from the Hartford Insurance Co. under a $100,000 bond with the company, the first funds recovered from the theft of $511,000 of ABAG funds last year by its assistant executive director. The check was passed on to the state to partially cover advance payments by the state to the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, which is funded through ABAG.

MARIN LOAN — Recommended federal approval of a $208,946 loan to San Rafael High School District to study construction of a third school site in Lucas Valley. The district is studying whether to enlarge the two existing schools or build a third.

AUDIT — Set a finance committee meeting at 5:30 p.m. Monday in the Hotel Claremont, Berkeley, to go over a new audit of ABAG books.

TAX AMENDMENT — Approved a motion by McInnis that the governing boards of cities and counties in ABAG inform their constituents of how Proposition 9 (the Watson amendment) would affect government financing. The proposition, on the November ballot, would shift the cost of education and welfare from the proptry tax to other taxes, probably income and sales taxes.

BAGET — Designated ABAG's new executive director, J. Julien Baget, former Novato city manager, as the association's representative to the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission.

Mischief Charge Sentencing Slated

Gary Thomas Ringen, 19, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a misdemeanor charge of malicious mischief and was ordered to appear Oct. 18 for sentencing.

Ringen was originally charged with a felony, throwing a lighted flare into a car, in an incident June 9 in the parking lot of the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary, Strawberry.

Deputy Handed Crash Demerits

Sheriff's Deputy Donald Besse, 28, drew three demerits yesterday from the Marin County Safety Commission for an accident in San Rafael last July 1.

The deputy was headed west on Third Street in a patrol car near Irwin Street when his attention was diverted by a truck moving out of a service station. He did not realize the signal had turned red.

Another car, heading north on Irwin, collided with Besse's patrol car.

The safety commissioners ruled that the accident was clearly preventable.

Young Bicyclist Hurt In Collision

A 10-year-old bicycle rider was injured at 6:15 p.m. yesterday in a collision with a car at the intersection of Brentwood and Briarwood Drives, San Rafael.

Mark Sorensen, 76 Brentwood Drive, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a broken right wrist and lacerations of the scalp.

The driver of the car — Terry P. Schenk, 16, of 231 Riviera Drive, San Rafael — was cited for not having an adult driver with him, as required for junior licenses, police reported.

GO AHEAD —— BE CHOOSY!!

Used car buyers have every right to be choosy. Each used car is ONE-OF-A-KIND, and you will never find an exact duplicate of any particular used car. That is why we have provided the discerning used car buyer with an intriguing selection of cars, each one calculated to catch the eye. Come to Lou Concilio's Marin Dodge and indulge yourself!

'65 Rambler $1495
This one is the Classic 770 V-8 2-door hardtop, a very sensibly designed car, and still so crammed with all the goodies that make for enjoyment in driving, you can live it up and look like the smart buyer you are, with factory air conditioning, power steering, automatic transmission, radio and heater. Its metallic blue finish is fetching, too. Stock #9046

'66 Dodge $1695
One of our own, so we know this one is good. Being good doesn't mean expensive, with us at Lou Concilio's Marin Dodge. When you can buy a Coronet 440 4-dr. sedan in attractive beige with automatic transmission, radio and heater for a price like this, you should grab it. Stock #9049

'65 Mustang $1495
What can even a Dodge dealer say about Mustangs except to wish he had them to sell a few years ago. Now, of course, they're in open season, and we've grabbed this one, a Poppy Red charmer, with automatic transmission, power steering, radio and heater. It has contrasting white interior, too. Stock #2126A

You can be choosy and still find your choice among these extremely low-priced cars!

Storer Would Attend Lunch With Alioto

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer declared today he will ask his fellow supervisors Tuesday to reconsider their boycott of the Sept. 25 luncheon with San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

"I personally plan to attend, regardless," said Storer. "We must keep the door of communication open."

When the supervisors voted 3-2 on Tuesday to cancel the luncheon date with the mayor, Storer and Supervisor Peter H. Behr cast the dissenting votes. The majority held it improper to sit down with the mayor, whose city and county is being sued by Marin and other counties to block a 1 per cent commuter tax.

Storer said past cooperation with San Francisto has resulted in such achievements as reforming the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board, stopping the second deck, and setting up a water transportation study committee.

"We are working together almost daily on transportation problems," said Storer. "We must keep the door open to San Francisco." He warned that even if the present commuter tax is ruled illegal, San Francisco could pass other taxes that would be legal.

He charged that the Tuesday decision by the Marin supervisors "was made off agenda, out of the blue and in the heat of anger and we should reconsider."

Fairfax Rezoning Item Continued

The public hearing on rezoning of three lots on Ridgeway Park will be continued at the Fairfax Planning Commission meeting Thursday at 8 p.m.

James Johnson, 4 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, has asked that his lots be rezoned from commercial to multiple usage.

Applications considered will include construction of a roof over the carport at the home of Hy Cook, 446 Bolinas Road; expansion of existing carport by Harold Skaggs at 1 Belmont Avenue; permission to operate lapidary and antique shop at 141-145 Bolinas Road by J. Scott Breed and Nesteria L. Breed; and variance of setback for remodeling of existing building at 75 Manor Road by Grant Perkins of San Anselmo.

The commission will also consider a letter from Mrs. Edna M. Milani of St. Helena regarding alleged violations of the carport on James Smith property, 16 Willow Avenue, adjoining her property at 18 Willow Avenue.

Ohio became the 17th state in 1803.

Orange Crate Derby Delayed

Applications may be obtained from the Jaycees, P.O. Box 30, Mill Valley.

Advisers Review Reed Programs

The Reed School District's citizens advisory committee on finances and programs Wednesday night heard a brief outline of the district's special programs for kindergarten-sixth grade students, Supt. H. Joe Edgington reported.

Edgington said the committee reviewed the mentally gifted, educationally handicapped and teacher aide and single session kindergarten program.

Committee members asked Edgington to prepare a breakdown of the state and local funding for each of the programs for review at their next meeting.

Jack Usilton, principal of Reed School, outlined the district's history, Edgington said. The committee also toured the Bel Aire School at the start of the meeting, he reported.

The committee will next meet at 8 p.m., Oct. 2, at Tiburon School.

Artificial Pacemaker Regulates Heart Beat In 30,000 Persons

VAN DELLEN

More than 30,000 lives are being maintained by an artificial pacemaker that regulates the beat of the heart. These men and women have a blockage along the electrical (conduction) system of the ticker leading to a heart rate so slow that the victim becomes dizzy or faints whenever he walks about the room. These units have reduced the death rate due to complete heart block from 40 to 10 per cent.

ELECTRICAL cardiac pacing is practical, and through the stimulators, an organ can be run at a normal rate for year.

In an emergency when the pulse is dangerously slow, the heart can be driven by inserting a long, thin, felxible wire electrode through the chest wall or by threading the wire through an arm vein through the top of the chest and down into the right ventricle. The wire is attached to an external pacer.

The instrument is removed when life no longer is in danger.

ON THE other hand, when the block persists, a permanent pace maker is needed. During surgery, a very tiny electric pacer consisting of a small battery and timing device is implanted inside the chest cavity or abdominal wall.

Wires attached to the device are inserted directly into the heart muscle.

Constant improvements are being made. Some pace makers last three years before the battery begins to fail.

Formerly, the electrode disintegrated, broke, or festered like a sliver.

IN ADDITION, the tip of the device moved out of place or penetrated the heart wall. Thanks to technical advances, these complications are rare.

It is estimated that 10,000 individuals develop heart block annually. In some, the cause is traced to a congenital defect of the organ; others are bothered following a heart attack (coronary thrombosis), or cardiac surgery.

In many instances, the cause cannot be found. Careful autopsy studies reveal that the electrical pathways through the heart are scarred, fibrosed, or calcified.

In other words, the normal conducting fibers have degenerated, usually as a result of the aging process.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CIRCULATION

Mrs. L. writes: Would wearing elastic garters above the knees interfere with the circulation to the legs? I have worn them for years.

REPLY

Yes, chiefly the blood leaving the extremities via the veins. If the garters were tight enough to obstruct the arteries, gangrene would have developed a long time ago.

BACKACHE

A reader writes: Why do I get a backache whenever something makes me angry or upset?

REPLY

The effects of tension on the human body can mimic almost any disease. Headache, palpitation, and gastrointestinal symptoms are the most common manifestations.

COFFEE AT NIGHT

A reader writes: When I drink coffee at night I cannot sleep. My friend tells me this is all in the mind. Is she right?

REPLY

Coffee in the evening causes insomnia in many persons and has no effect on others. Some even use the beverage as a sedative.

BANG'S DISEASE

G. T. writes: What is Bang's disease?

REPLY

The veterinary counterpart of brucellosis. Brucella organisms cause abortions in cattle; the disorder can be transmitted to man.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT

Laxatives are taboo in persistent abdominal pain.

EXHIBIT A
AMENDMENT TO CONTRACT

BETWEEN THE BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION PUBLIC EMPLOYEES' RETIREMENT SYSTEM AND THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL.

The Board of Administration, Public Employees' Retirement System, hereinafter referred to as Board, and the CITY COUNCIL of the CITY OF SAN RAFAEL, hereinafter referred to as Public Agency having entered into a contract under date of June 20, 1957, effective July 1, 1957, and as amended effective December 1, 1957, January 1, 1958, and March 2, 1959, which provides for participation of Public Agency in said System, Board and Public Agency hereby agree as follows:

A. Paragraphs 1 through 13 are hereby stricken from said contract as executed effective July 1, 1957, and are hereby replaced by the following paragraphs numbered 1 through 13 inclusive:

1. All words and terms used herein which are defined in the Public Employees' Retirement Law shall have the meaning as defined therein unless otherwise specifically provided. "Normal retirement age" shall mean age 60 for miscellaneous members and age 55 for local safety members except those local safety members continuing under provisions of this contract prior to the amendment in 1968.
2. Public Agency shall participate in the Public Employees' Retirement System from and after July 1, 1957, making its employees as hereinafter provided, members of said System subject to all provisions of the Public Employees' Retirement Law except such as apply only on election of a contracting agency and are not provided for herein and to all amendments to said Law hereafter enacted except such as by express provision thereof apply only on the election of contracting agencies.
3. Employees of Public Agency in the following classes shall become members of said Retirement System except such in each such class as are excluded by law or this agreement:
   a. Local firemen (herein referred to as local safety members);
   b. Local policemen (herein referred to as local safety members);
   c. Employees other than local safety members (herein referred to as miscellaneous members).

   The following employees shall be excluded from membership in said Retirement System:

   NO ADDITIONAL EXCLUSIONS
4. The fraction of final compensation to be provided for each year of credited service as a miscellaneous member upon retirement at normal retirement age shall be 1/60 and shall be applied as provided in Section 21251.1 of said Retirement Law and reduced to 1/90 for members covered under Federal Social Security in accordance with Section 21252.45 of said Retirement Law.
5. The fraction of final compensation to be provided for each year of credited service as a local safety member shall be determined in accordance with Section 21252.4 and shall be reduced for members covered under Federal Social Security in accordance with Section 21252.45 of said Retirement Law.
6. Benefits on account of prior service shall be 100% of the fraction of final compensation specified for miscellaneous members in Paragraph 4 above, but computed in accordance with Section 21253 of said Retirement Law, and for local safety members shall be 100% of the fraction established in accordance with Paragraph 5; provided, however, as to both miscellaneous and local safety members that said fraction shall be reduced by one-third for application to the first $400.00 per month of final compensation of any member whose position is covered by Federal Social Security for all prior service of such member, whether or not the service is included in Federal Social Security.
7. The retirement benefits payable upon retirement for ordinary disability shall not be affected by the modification provided in Paragraphs 4 and 5 of this contract except that for the purposes of the limit on any such allowances imposed under Section 21297, Government Code, allowances for retirement for service shall be computed according to the modified formula set out in Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the contract. All other provisions of this contract shall be fully applicable to the computation of allowances upon retirement for disability.
8. Contributions for miscellaneous and local safety members shall be subject to Sections 20601.5 and 20612 of said Retirement Law respectively, said sections providing for a reduction in rates of contribution as such rates relate to the first $400.00 of monthly compensation and 100% of such rates as they apply to the remainder of the monthly compensation. Members whose positions are excluded from Social Security coverage shall contribute in accordance with Sections 20601 and 20607.5 of said Retirement Law.
9. Paragraphs 5, 6 and 8 above shall not apply to those local safety members in employment on the effective date in 1968 of this amendment to contract who elect to continue under the provisions of this contract prior to said amendment and sections 20607.51 and 21252.5 of said Retirement Law shall continue to apply with respect to such members as provided in Section 21252.45.
10. The following additional provisions of the Public Employees' Retirement Law which apply only upon election of a contracting agency shall apply to the Public Agency and its employees:
    a. Section 20024.01 (defining "final compensation" on the basis of a period of three consecutive years).
    b. Section 21258 (b) (providing a minimum retirement allowance of $720.00 per year under certain conditions).
    c. Section 21367.51 (providing a $400.00 death benefit upon death after retirement).
    d. Section 20025 (providing for inclusion of compensation without limit in computations where compensation is a factor).
    e. Section 21365.5 (providing a monthly allowance in lieu of the basic death benefit for certain survivors of a member who dies in employment after qualifying for voluntary service retirement).
    f. Section 20952.5 (providing for age 50 as the minimum voluntary retirement age for local safety members with benefit payments commencing prior to age 55 subject to actuarial discount).
    g. Section 21251.35 (providing for increases in allowances payable for time commencing on the first day of the calendar month coinciding with or next following the effective date of this amendment, provided, however, that the final compensation used in the calculation of any allowance at retirement shall not be changed and no allowances are to be decreased by said recalculation).
11. Public Agency shall contribute to said Retirement System as follows:
    a. With respect to miscellaneous members, the city shall contribute the following percentages of monthly salaries earned as miscellaneous members of said System:
    (1) 1.878 per cent until June 30, 1987 on account of the liability for prior service benefits.
    (2) 6.864 per cent on account of the liability for current service benefits.
    b. With respect to local safety members, the city shall contribute the following percentages of monthly salaries earned as local safety members of said System:
    (1) 2.993 per cent until June 30, 1987 on account of the liability for prior service benefits.
    (2) 8.232 per cent on account of the liability for current service benefits.
    c. A reasonable amount per annum, as fixed by Board to cover the costs of administering said System as it affects the employees of Public Agency, not including the costs of special valuations or the periodical investigation and valuation required by law, provided that said amount shall be determined on the basis of the number of employees of Public Agency who are reported as members on a payroll to be designated by the System covering one month of each year, or with respect to the first year of participation, on the effective date of said participation.
    d. A resonable amount as fixed by the Board, payable in one installment as the occasions arise, to cover costs of special valuations on account of employees of public agency, and costs of the periodical investigation and valuation required by law.
12. Contributions required of Public Agency and its employees shall be subject to adjustment by Board on account of amendments to the Public Employees' Retirement Law, and on account of the experience under the Retirement System as determined by the periodical investigation and valuation required by said Retirement Law.
13. Contributions required of Public Agency and its employees shall be paid by Public Agency to the Retirement System within thirty days after the end of the period to which said contributions refer. If more or less than the correct amount of contributions is paid, for any period, proper adjustment shall be made in connection with subsequent remittances, or adjustments on account of errors in contributions required of any employee may be made by direct cash payments between the employee and Board. Payments by Public Agency to Board may be made in the form of warrants, bank checks, bank drafts, certified checks, money orders, or cash.

B. This amendment shall be attached to said contract and shall be effective

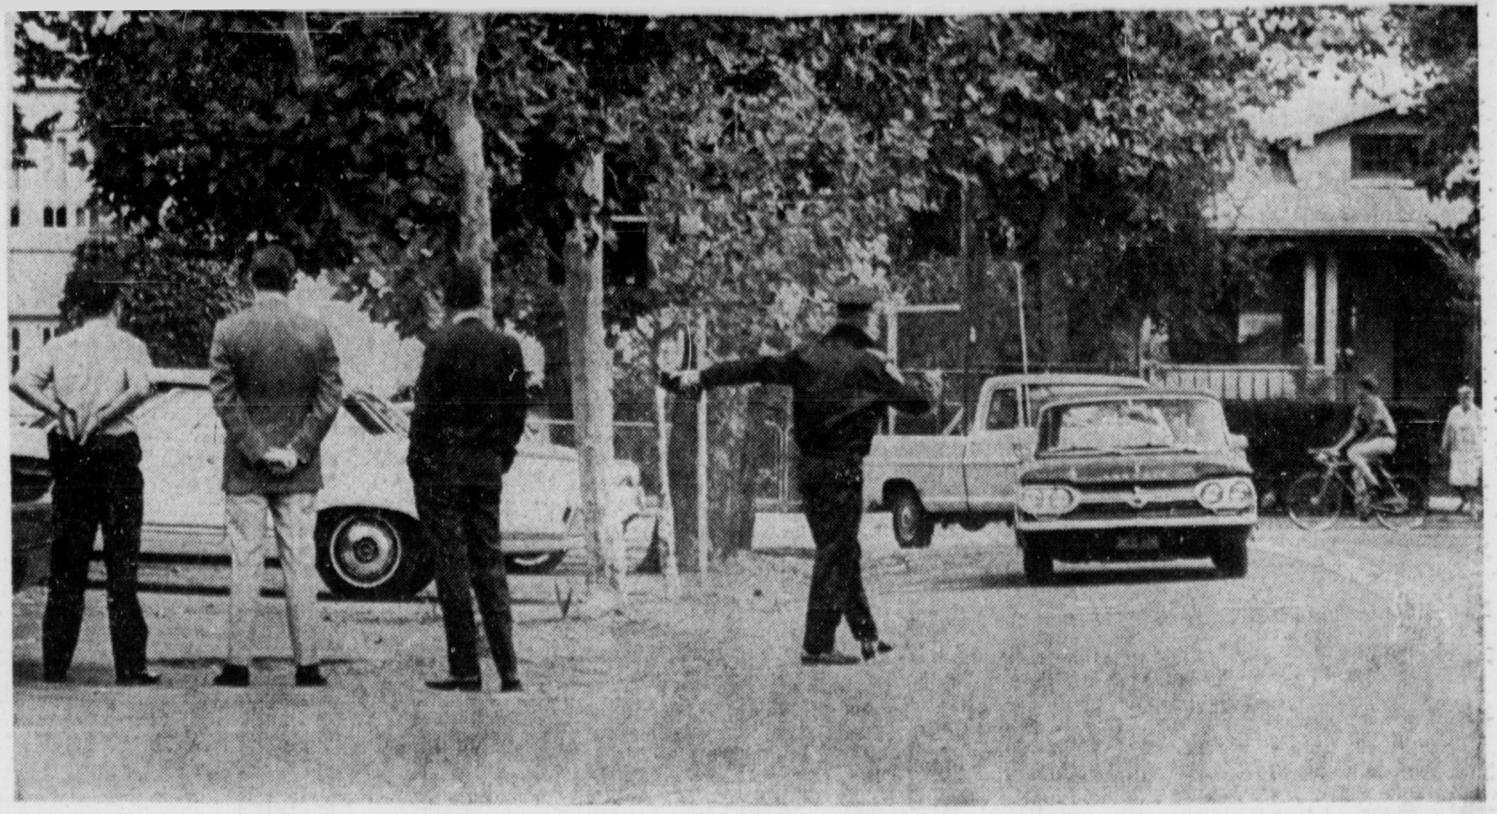
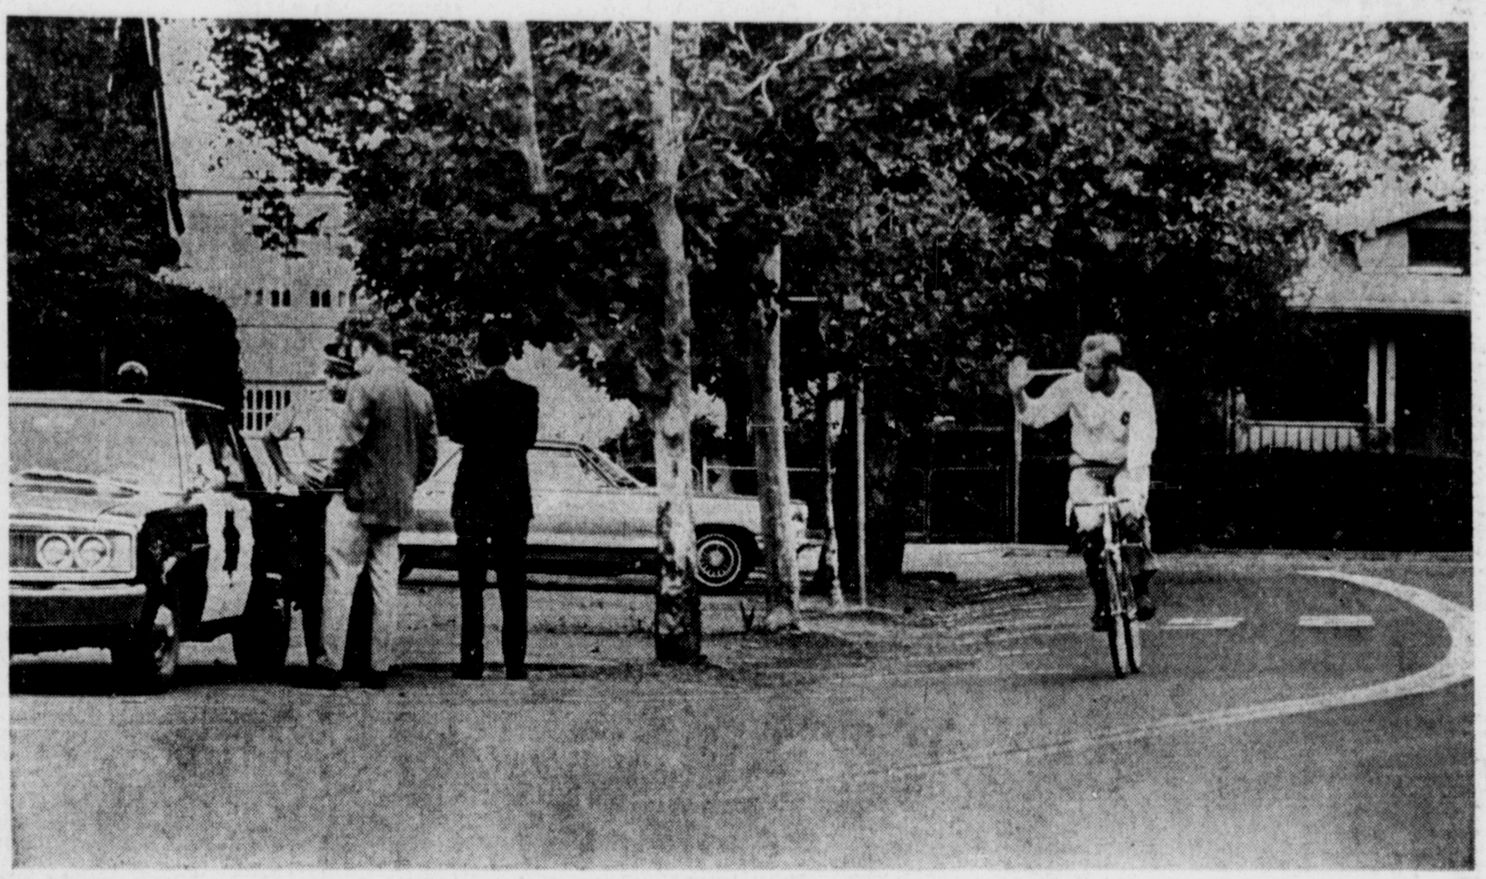
PRIZE CATCH — Guess who the police stopped? It was Morris T. Shepherd (left), an instructor in driver education for the Tamalpais High School District. He faces a $17 fine for making the taboo turn. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)



PULL OVER — A Ross policeman waves an offender to the side of the road as Asst. Police Chief Alexander Mendoza, Councilman Jack Carney and Ken Ackerman of San Anselmo watch.



GREETINGS — With a wave, a bearded bicyclist passed police and Ross Councilman Jack Carney (light jacket) today — after making a prohibited left turn onto Shady Lane.

UNBEARABLE — A woman cries the tears of an erring motorist while Patrolman Jim Alfson writes her a summons for making the illegal turn. A total of 74 summonses have been written by police since the start of the crackdown Sept. 10.

TRAP OR SAFETY EFFORT?

Ross Tickets Commuter Turns

Motorists evading morning commuter traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard are running into the law — and afoul of it.

In the past two weeks, Ross police have issued 74 summonses to drivers making illegal turns at an intersection on the Ross-San Anselmo border.

The problem corner is at Bolinas Avenue and Shady Lane, which, the police said, is along a peripheral route taking commuters away from the traffic lights and auto jams on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Commuters from parts of Central and West Marin taking evasive routes through downtown San Anselmo attempt to get through the Town of Ross in the same fashion. From downtown San Anselmo, they turn west onto Bolinas Avenue, then left into Shady Lane. That's where the police are waiting.

This spring, left turns onto Shady Lane were banned after the Ross Town Council received a petition signed by 204 residents complaining about hazardous driving on Shady Lane. The City of San Anselmo agreed to place a sign prohibiting the turns on its side of Bolinas Avenue.

Turns are banned only from 7 to 8:30 a.m. weekdays.

Ross Mayor Frederick S. Allen said yesterday he ordered a crackdown Sept. 10 because of the danger presented to school children by hurried commuters.

"There's no reason why they can't use Sir Francis Drake," Allen said. "Why do they have to use town streets when they have a highway?"

Allen said he observed the police issuing summonses yesterday morning and counted "100 violations," although only 10 tickets were issued. Many motorists escape while summonses are being given to others.

Police Chief John Harris said 19 summonses were issued Wednesday morning. About 20 were handed out today . . . all calling for fines of $17.

Harris said the crackdown would continue, although we'd like to do other things."

Earlier this year, in connection with the ban on turns, Shady Lane was striped with a double line and radar to stop speeding, but Harris said violations continue.

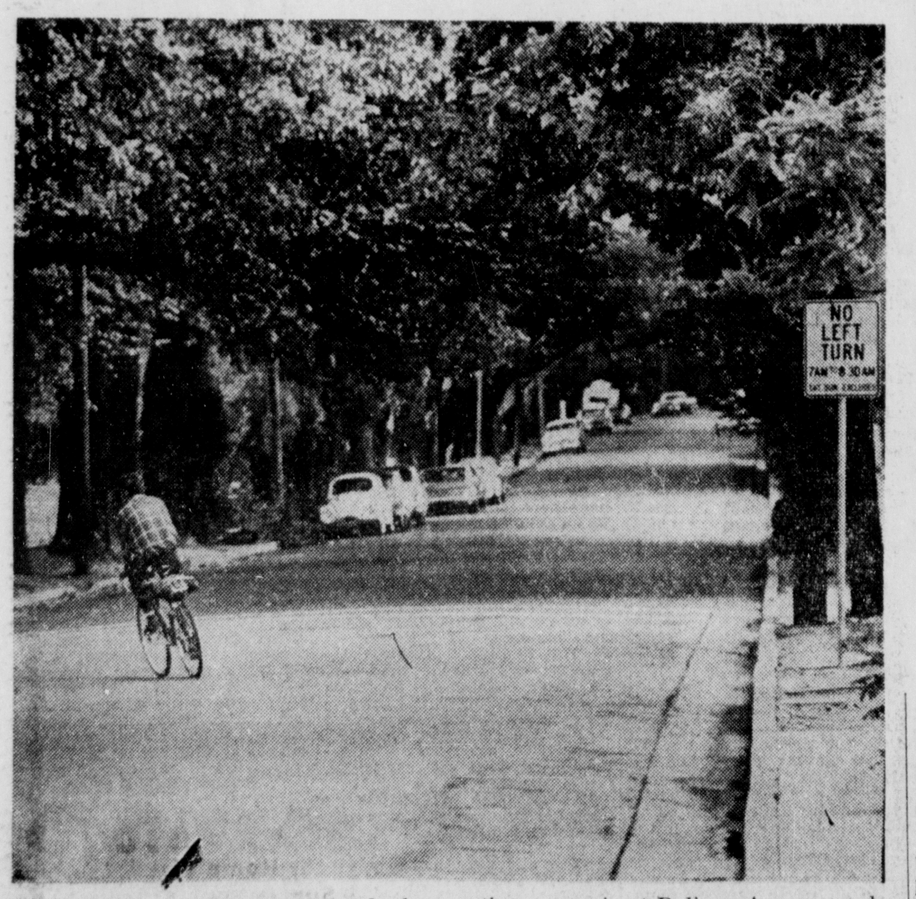
Motorists complain that the sign banning the turns is too small and should be placed away from a large tree. Harris said the sign is legal — two-and-a-half by two feet — and is plainly visible.

He denied the crackdown was "entrapment." "We're instructed to enforce the law," he said.

Councilman Jack Carney, a radio personality, visited the intersection this morning. He said he was upset about the size and placement of the sign, but mentioned no specific corrective action.

He called it "ticketing in a wholesale manner" and said that "if the mayor looks upon this as a way to make revenue, it's a lousy way to do it."

Allen denied this was the aim. A check with the county auditor-controller's office revealed Ross realizes only 18 per cent of fines on moving violations in the town.



NO TURN — A bicyclist rounds the prohibited turn. Motorists beware: the corner is at Bolinas Avenue and Shady Lane in Ross.

MISTAKE—Unwary motorists turn from Bolinas Avenue onto Shady Lane in Ross. That's illegal, and police are cracking down to keep commuters off town streets.

San Rafael High Class Pays Call On Lawmakers

Twenty-nine students from a United States government and humanitiies class at San Rafael High School accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Virginia Franklin, visited the state Legislature Wednesday.

Also on the trip was the class' student teacher, Mrs. Michele Burton, whose husband is Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco.

Mrs. Franklin said that the students met and discussed issues of the day with many legislators, including Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, who described the Democratic convention to the youngsters.

They spent about an hour with Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, she said, discussing the black power movement. The students also met Marin's legislators, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Other assemblymen discussed student protests, Bay Area Rapid Transit financing, the vote for 18-year-olds and gun legislation with the students.

A Panther Report At High School

A report of a carload of armed Black Panthers on the San Rafael campus, and posting of a "Free Huey Newton" poster on a high school bulletin board caused a brief flurry of alarm today at the school.

Principal Alan Ellsberg reported a few parents had asked that their children be sent home as a result of the alarm.

Two students reported seeing a carload of Black Panthers, with guns, in the high school parking lot. It was not there when school officials investigated.

The Huey Newton poster — a large picture of the convicted slayer of an Oakland policeman — was posted in a library building hall. After some students tore it down, others patched it together and put it up again. It was then taken down by the principal. The poster carried an inflammatory message about "racist pigs" and "wrath of armed people."

Principal Ellsberg said he had been visited by eight Negro girl students with a request — not associated with the Black Panther agitation — for a campus club for Negro students. He said he was much in favor of such a club and would try to get it started.

Did McLain Give Mick Silver Platter Homer?

DETROIT (AP) - Denny McLain was seven years old when Mickey Mantle broke into the American League in 1951 with New York. And as Mantle rounded the bases yesterday with his 535th career home run, the 24-year-old McLain stood on the mound saluting his boyhood idol.

There were hints the Tigers pitcher had just served a gopher ball to Mantle on a silver platter.

But it didn't affect the outcome of the game—Detroit won 6-2 for its ninth straight victory.

The homer made Mantle the third leading home run hitter in the baseball history, behind Babe Ruth and Willie Mays and ahead of Jimmy Foxx.

"Is he (Mantle) still your idol?" McLain was asked after the game.

"He still is," McLain said.

"I got a feeling he wanted me to hit it," Mantle said later in the Yankee dressing room.

Detroit was leading 6-1 in the eighth inning, when, with an 0-2 count, Mantle motioned with his hand for McLain to give hi a letter high pitch. Mickey then blasted the next pitch in the upper deck in right field as the crowd roared.

"I think it was just a straight fast ball," Mantle said. "It's got to be one of the best thrills I've had in baseball."

McLain smilingly denied to newsmen that he deliberately threw threw a pitch that Mantle could surely blast into the stands.

"You don' think I'd deliberately throw him a hone run ball, do you?" McLain grinned.

"There would be a scandal and an immediate investigation of baseball."

McLain, who holds the Tiger record for most home run pitches (42 in 1966) and has given up 31 this year, said the last one wasn't anything special "but this one I'll remember a little bit more."

An usher gave first base umpire Hank Soar the ball Mantle hit and he in turn gave it to Mickey.

Someone asked McLain if he would like to have the ball.

"I'd like to have that ball all right," he said, "just to see what it looked like."

Meanwhile, McLain became only the eighth American League pitcher this century to win 31 games as he went the distance for the 28th time this year. It was the 12th consecutive complete game for Tiger starters.

Manager Mayo Smith said he was going to pull him about halfway through the game so his relief pitchers could get a chance. The last time a relief pitcher was used was Sept. 4.

"But after he pitched the seventh inning, Denny said he wanted to finish, so I left him in," Smith said.

Norm Cash put the Tigers ahead in the fourth inning with a home run off Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre, 20-12.

New York tied it in the sixth but in the bottom of the inning Cash hit his 24th homer of the year with one on and Eddie Mathews singled home the third run of the inning.

The Tigers got their final two runs in the seventh off reliever Dooley Womack.

McLain scattered eight hits and struck out seven to move within three of the Tiger all time season record of 275 set by Hal Newhouser in 1946. His record is now 31-5.

DANIELS AS A 49ER — Clem Daniels, who gained more than 5,000 yards rushing in eight years with the Oakland Raiders, works out in a San Francisco 49er uniform. Daniels was cut by the Raiders last week but may be playing with the 49ers by next week. (AP Wirephoto)

Marin High Schools Open Football Season Tonight

Six Games On Practice Schedule

Marin County Athletic League's football hopefuls begin to practice for real tonight and tomorrow when they kick off their 1968 campaign.

Redwood, San Rafael and Tamalpais get into the starting gate tonight while Novato, Drake and Terra Linda follow suit tomorrow.

Redwood and San Rafael open against teams already tested. The Giants, inside track favorites for the MCAL crown, go against shell-shocked Palo Alto at College of Marin tonight at 8 o'clock.

Palo Alto, usually a strong entry in the Peninsula League, may still be picking up the pieces after a devastating 56-14 shellacking at the hands of Riordan last week. Riordan, incidentally, follows Palo Alto, on the Redwood schedule.

STRONG RUNNING

Palo Alto is considered to be a strong running team, with an inexperienced line, both offensively and defensively.

Jim Peters will be the chief weapon in Redwood's arsenal, an arsenal that suffered a setback with fullback Pete Richter out for at least 10 days with a cracked rib. Tackle Gary Kasprzak will go at fullback against Palo Alto.

San Rafael could start with a potentially dangerous foe. The Bulldogs host Marin Catholic, an early 13-6 winner over Albany, at 8 o'clock.

Marin Catholic, considered something of a patsy when the Wildcats were in the MCAL, is fielding what coach Jeff Kiff calls his strongest team. The 'Cats are big, they have quick backs and two experienced quarterbacks.

UNTRIED TALENT

The Bulldogs, with plenty of depth but untried talent, will go a long way in finding out how strong their chances are tonight.

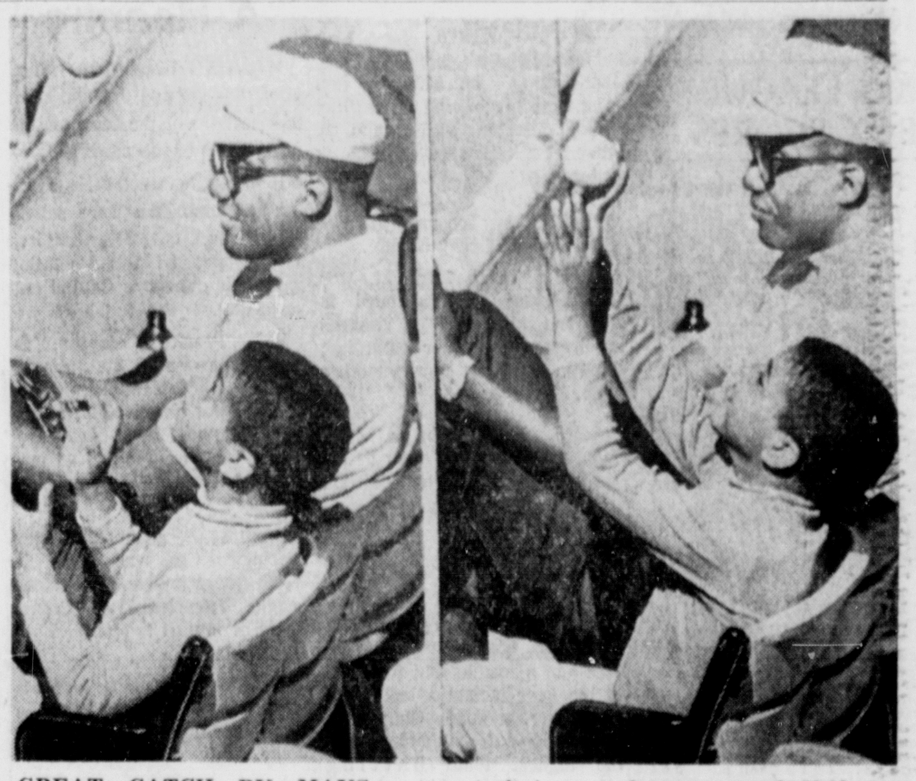
Tamalpais sends Northern California's top-yardage quarterback Don Mackin against Salesian at Richmond at 8 o'clock.

The Indians, who won only one game last season, won that one against Salesian, so they may get off on the right foot again this time.

Novato, with a thin but experienced squad, hosts traditionally quick and tough Montgomery of the North Bay League tomorrow at 2 p.m.

The Hornets' chief offensive weapon will be a strong passing attack behind quarterback Russ Dillon.

Co-defending champions Drake and Terra Linda wait until tomorrow night to open their seasons, the Pirates going against Petaluma at Kentfield at 8 o'clock and the Trojans playing Santa Rosa at San Rafael, both games at 8 o'clock in battles between the Marin and the North Bay leagues.



GREAT CATCH BY MAYS — Michael Mays, nine-year-old son of San Francisco Giant centerfielder Willie Mays, displays his fielding technique as he spears a ball that landed in the stands during the Giants' 11-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at Candlestick yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Small Consolation: Giants Hold Edge Over Cardinals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The best team in the National League appeared at Candlestick Park this week, but it would be difficult to convince onlookers the St. Louis Cardinals are better than the San Francisco Giants.

Rookie Bobby Bonds belted two homers and scored four times and Jim Hart batted a grand slam home run yesterday as the second-place Giants bounced back from a no-hitter to crush the Cardinals 11-5.

The runaway not only gave San Francisco the series 2-1 but also made the Giants the lone club to hold a season advantage over champion St. Louis, 10-8.

The Giants in fact, lead or have tied all clubs this year with one exception. Atlanta, which opens a three-game series at Candlestick Park tonight, tops San Francisco, 8-7.

The Giants edged the Cardinals this week without the benefit of ace right-hander Juan Marichal, 25-8, who seeks his 26th win tonight after missing a turn with a minor leg injury.

ROOKIE WINNER

Rookie Rich Robertson, making his first major league start, raised his record to 2-0 on the heels of an 18-9 campaign at Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League.

Robertson bested Nelson Briles, 18-11, in a battle of former Santa Clara University pitchers. Both were rocked for a pair of runs in the first inning as the two clubs quickly ended prospects of a third straight no-hitter.

Johnny Edwards' two-run single capped the first-inning scoring for St. Louis.

Bonds' leadoff homer greeted Briles in the bottom of the inning. The Giants scored three times in the second inning and Hart hit his grand slam in the sixth.

Robertson was lifted in the seventh when the Cards scored three runs. Reliever Frank Linzy worked out of trouble, then retired the Cards in order in the eighth and ninth.

Bonds' two-run homer, his ninth this year, closed the scoring in the bottom of the seventh.

TEAM TOURNEY

Hill Bros. Lead Arnie And Jack

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — It took young Mike Hill twice to satisfactorily complete the official PGA Tournament school, but brother Dave Hill believes he learned his lessons well.

"Mike saved three fantastic pars," Dave said yesterday after the brother team carded a nine under par 62 to take the first round lead of the $200,000 PGA team championship.

Mike, who is 29 and a spring graduate of the PGA school after failing to pass last fall, had equal praise for Dave.

"Dave's a great player," he said. "It's quite an advantage for me to play with him."

The brother team from Jackson, Mich., held a two-stroke lead over veterans Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus going into the second round of the tournament today.

Palmer and Nicklaus, defending team champions, fired a 64 yesterday with each carrying his share of the load.

SAME SCORE

"Jack could have stayed in the clubhouse on the front nine and I could have stayed in on the back nine and we still would have had the same score," Palmer said.

The Hill brothers and the Palmer-Nicklaus combination played at Twin Hills Country Club yesterday, the 6-700-yard par 71 course that produced the best scoring.

Four teams were in a tie for third place at 65. They were Bobby Nichols and George Archer, Larry Hinson and Bunky Henry, Bert Greene and Randy Glover and Jack McGowan and Dick Crawford.

A 25-mile-per-hour wind caused high scoring on the Quail Creek course, but the Twin Hills layout is partially protected by trees.

SMALL GREEN

"The wind makes it difficult because the greens are very small," Dave Hill said.

The Hills are both listed in the top 60 money winners for the year. Dave is 43rd with winnings of $31,439 while Mike is 55th with $25,488.

Scores at Quail Creek yesterday were higher than those at Twin Hills. The best score at Quail Creek was a 66 by Lou Graham and Steve Spray.

They were tied for fourth place with the teams of Jim Ferrier and Larry Mowry, Tommy Aaron and Charles Coody, and Bob Dickson and Labon Harris Jr.

Laver-Ashe Showdown Is Expected

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Although Australians Fred Stolle and Ken Rosewall have advanced into the semi-finals of the $30,000 Pacific Southwest Open Tennis Tournament, the real action is expected tonight.

That's when Australian Rod Laver, No. 1 seed and favored to win, and second-seeded Lt. Arthur Ashe take to the courts. But they won't be playing against each other.

Ashe, of Richmond, Va., one of two amateurs still in the running, takes on Roy Emerson in a quarterfinal match and Laver meets Clark Graebner of New York, an unseeded Davis Cup teammate of Ashe's.

Ashe has routed Emerson, also of Australia, during their last two duels. If he and Laver win, they move to the semifinals and might possibly meet in Sunday's finale.

SPANIARD LOSES

Stolle dropped Spanish pro Andres Gimeno 6-3, 16-18, 6-1 in a two-hour, 32-minute match yesterday and Rosewall defeated veteran pro Pancho Gonzales of Malibu, 11-9, 6-2.

Maria Bueno of Brazil moved a step closer to what could be her first major title of the year by winning over Francoise Durr of France 6-2, 8-6 in a quarter-final match.

In men's doubles, Emerson and Laver defeated Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico and Graebner 12-10, 6-1.

Ashe and Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., beat Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Tom Okker of Holland 6-3, 6-2.

Daniels Okayed For 49ers

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Ex-Oakland Raiders flash Clem Daniels has passed his physical and probably will be activated by the San Francisco 49ers early next week.

The 49ers said they will decide by Monday whether to sign Daniels or not.

That means that several men will be playing for their jobs Sunday against St. Louis since the Prospectors will have to cut somebody if they pick up Daniels.

Daniels reportedly was on a $35,000 contract with the Raiders which is why other teams did not pick him up when Oakland waived him. They also might have feared his injured ankle would not stand up, but 49er Dr. Lloyd Milburn cleared Daniels for duty yesteray.

San Francisco was free to negotiate with him and General Manager Jack White and Daniels came to terms yesterday though neither specified terms.

The 30-year-old Daniels gained 5,101 yards in the American Football League and also excelled as a pass catcher.

BRODIE AILING

Quarterback John Brodie missed 49er practice yesterday because of a sore back, but Coach Nolan said that was only done to make sure Brodie will be rested for Sunday's contest.

The 6-foot-1 218-pounder refuses to believe he's too old and insists he is in good condition.

"I didn't get much of a chance to play in the exhibition games," he said.

"I've always been the type of back who needs work in those games, but the Raiders decided to go along with younger backs."

Daniels joined the Raiders after playing one year with the former Dallas Texans, now the Kansas City Chiefs.

In eight pro seasons he scored 30 touchdowns, caught 201 passes for 3,291 yards and 24 touchdowns, and returned 47 kickoffs for 1,000 yards.

The former Prairie View A&M star played in four AFL All-Star games.

His ankle was stepped on last year in the season's eighth contest against Miami, after he had gained 797 yards running and receiving during the season.

Why American League Flopped In Oakland

OAKLAND — You want to know why the Oakland A's will draw only about 850,000 fans this season? Of course you do, despite having been issued a number of Decline and Fall reasons from other sources.

The big woe is Who Cares? . . . about the American League, that is. Before the A's arrival, the Bay Area assuredly didn't — and obviously still doesn't. With good reason.

The junior circuit, from what we've seen amidst nodding glances at 81 games over here, is Dullsville, just over the hill from the little village of Ennui. Oakland doesn't sparkle much either, adding to the need for No-Doze.

OF COURSE, there were a few exciting games during the home season. Only the other home stand, Detroit played three straight action-packed tilts with the Finley townies. That was because Detroit was in the stretch run for the flag, and every game was of import. The Tigers win most of theirs after the seventh inning, which makes for fun and games.

BUT EXCEPT for the champs, there's nothing. Well, not nothing — but little. The Red Sox were fascinating for a time, being defending titlists and all that. Frank Howard's muscle is interesting to observe when Washington's in town. And there's always the inspiration of the hobbled Mickey Mantle.

Mantle, in the twilight, was the biggest drawing card in Oakland this year. The Yankees outdrew every other club, i.e., Mantle outdrew every other club.

THIS HAS to be a commentary on the American League interests of the local fan.

They know of nothing, and care less. Mantle is history, so him they appreciate. That's that.

YET, THE fans are blameless — for how can one maintain interest in a league that for most of the year lacked a legitimate .300 hitter, a league that finds the powder puff Oaklanders with the highest team batting average, a league with only one decent all-around catcher (Detroit's Freehan) and rookies who exhibit strains of morbidity?

We know where all the flowers have gone, but whither the American League ballplayers who catch the fancy? Mantle will be gone within two years, then what?

CAN A REGGIE Jackson fill the gap? He's four years away from being a polished, truly powerful performer. And for that period of time, he's the only true excitement Oakland will have.

The question of personalities is more than a surface contention. Sure there's high unemployment in Oakland, but the few sporting bucks these people have are going to the game in town that's interesting — the Raiders maybe.

FINLEY, AND the American League, would have made it in Seattle as the only game in town. The league and the new Pilots will find that next year. But as it stands now, baseball can't afford to wait for next year, for more and more expansion.

CONGRESS

Fired Umps Will Get A Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has stepped into the baseball battle over the firing of two American League umpires.

Hearings before the House labor subcommittee were scheduled for Oct. 14-15 after umpires Al Salerno and Bill Valentine took their appeal to Capitol Hill yesterday.

Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., chairman of the subcommittee, called it a clear violation of labor laws if Salerno and Valentine were fired because of their efforts to organize an umpires' union in the American League.

Thompson announced the hearings for the week after the World Series and said American League President Joe Cronin would be invited to testify.

Congress is likely to have adjourned by mid-October and the main effect of the hearings would be simply to air all sides of the dispute.

UNION EFFORTS

The two umpires have charged they were dismissed because of their union organization efforts. Cronin has said they were thumbed out because of unsatisfactory performance as umpires.

Valentine said yesterday 19 of the 20 American League umpires had decided to join the association already existing for the National League. He said the National League umpires had approved the expanded membership unanimously.

Salerno and Valentine met with a series of senators and representatives in an unprecedented appeal by umpires to Congress on a baseball decision.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., sent Cronin a telegram asking a full explanation of "the inexplicable and summary dismissal" of the umpires.

Cronin's executive assistant, Bob Holbrook, said the league president had not seen the telegram and had no immediate comment.

Billy Casper, the top money winner on the PGA circuit this year, teamed with Gay Brewer to shoot a 68 at Quail Creek.

Masters champion Bob Goalby and partner Mason Rudolph were in trouble at Quail Creek and shot a 73, while U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino and Homer Blancas carded a 73 at Twin Hills.

The field of 124 teams will be cut to 60 after today's second round, with golfers changing courses for play. The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be over the Quail Creek course.

100-Lapper Ends Petaluma Race Season Tonight

It's hard to pick a favorite when NASCAR drivers are competing in a 100 lap race simply because those who have dominated during year rarely win the long races.

This is what will confront sportsmen pilots at the final NASCAR race of the season tonight at the Petaluma Fairgrounds. Points are not the important things this time, just money.

Tom Abreu of Castro Valley has the points title all wrapped up. The same holds true for Petaluma's John Collins in the stocker division.

Both drivers are far ahead of the packs and can't be hurt despite their performances the final night.

Qualifying begins at 7 o'clock and the first race gets underway at 8.

Rams Get Atlanta Center

COMBINED AP & UPI

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Rams have acquired center Frank Marchlewski from the Atlanta Falcons to replace injured reserve center George Burman.

Marchlewski, 24, a starter with the Falcons, will be used as a backup center to Ken Iman.

The Rams made the acquisition yesterday for a high draft choice next season. Burman, 25, has been bothered by a knee injury. Marchlewski, a 6-foot-2, 240-pounder, originally was drafted by Los Angeles in 1965 after an outstanding career at University of Minnesota. However, he was lost to the Falcons in the 1966 expansion draft.

Top-Ranked Teams On Spot In College Grid Openers

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Five, four, three, two, one, blast off. That's the way the college football season will get under way tomorrow for its first big weekend.

All top five preseason picks in the Associated Press poll will be in action and all but first-ranked Purdue look to have their hands full getting off the launching pad.

One team will have to fall back when third-rated Notre Dame and fifth-ranked Oklahoma clash at South Bend, Ind. The Irish rule better than a touchdown favorite with their Terry Hanratty-led offense, despite losing much of the defense that sparked them to an 8-2 record in 1967.

PURDUE FAVORED

Purdue, boasting halfback Leroy Keyes, the nation's leading scorer in 1967, is expected to have little trouble with visiting Virginia.

O.J. Simpson, like Keyes another holdover All-American, might have to provide plenty of spark for Southern California as the second-ranked Trojans travel to Minnesota, No. 16. Texas, No. 4, might have still more problems with No. 11 Houston, which opened its season last week with a rout over Tulane.

Other top teams in action include Penn State, No. 10, which hosts Navy, and 15th-ranked Indiana, last year's Cinderella club, which goes against visiting Baylor.

UCLA, No. 16, without Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban, tackles hopeful Pittsburgh at home Saturday night.

Northwestern takes on 19th-ranked Miami of Florida in Florida tonight.

Notre Dame will have Hanratty, split end Jim Seymour and running backs Bob Gladieux and Jeff Zimmerman, but gone are All-American tackle Kevin Hardy and most of the linebackers and defensive backs of last season.

Oklahoma will be missing Granville Liggins, an All-American defensive lineman, and three veteran linebackers, but the Sooners lack little on offense. Back are quarterback Bob Warmack, wingback Eddie Hinton and Big Eight rushing champion Steve Owens at fullback.

GREEN DEFENSE

"We're in pretty good shape on offense," said Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian, "but on defense there are just so many things that can happen with inexperienced players that the whole game plan can be changed."

Should Notre Dame get by Oklahoma, the going only gets rougher with Purdue its next opponent.

The Boilermakers, with Keyes moving between running back and flanker this year and sophomore quarterback sensation Mike Phipps back after tying for the Big Ten title last season, still can't take Virginia too lightly.

The Cavaliers, with the nation's second-best pass defense in 1967, also feature Frank Quayle at tailback. He has run for 1,482 yards and 21 touchdowns in two seasons.

ROSE BOWL AIM

Southern Cal, aiming for another trip to the Rose Bowl, will be missing All-Americans Ron Yary and Adrian Young, but O.J. is back to run at the always-tough Minnesota defense.

Texas will send quarterback Bill Bradley and running back Chris Gilbert a tHouston, which is without Warren McVea. But the Cougars still have Paul Gipson, who ran for 115 yards, and Elmo Wright, who caught two long touchdown passes, in last week's 54-7 cruise over Tulane.

In other games, The Citadel will be at Army, Air Force and Florida tangle at Tampa, Fla., Florida State Travels to Maryland, Michigan State hosts Syracuse, Kansas plays at Illinois, Texas Christian visits Georgia Tech and Oregon State is at Iowa.

TV GAME

Stanford's Air Attack In Spotlight

STANFORD (AP)—Stanford's quarterback, Jim Plunkett, has a great future, says Harry Anderson, the San Jose State football coach.

"I just hope he waits until after Saturday to get started on it," Anderson said yesterday. His Spartans meet the Indians Saturday in the season opener for both schools.

Anderson believes the regionally televised game (1:15 p.m., Channel 7) will amount to a battle between Stanford's passing and San Jose' running.

In last week's intrasquad scrimmage, Plunkett completed 16 of 32 passes for 182 yards and a touchdown and carried the ball himself 15 times for 60 yards.

NO EXPERIENCE

Compounding the problem presented by Plunkett is a Spartan defensive line comprised of "some real eager kids with not one minute of experience," Anderson said.

San Jose State, 2-7, last year, has an offense built around tailback Walt Schockley. "He has really been shining in the workouts," said Anderson, "and I think he could very well be the second best rusher on the coast this year."

Anderson concedes No. 1 to O. J. Simpson of the University of Southern California.

Stanford downed San Jose 28-14 last year en route to a 5-5 season.

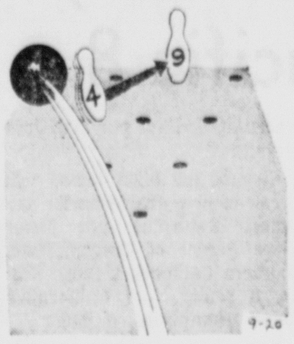
Sugar Bowl Gets An Early Start

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl is starting early this fall to scout prospects for the New Year's Day postseason collegiate football classic.

Sugar Bowl representatives will scont five games tomorrow. Usually, the Sugar Bowl doesn't watch possible bowl teams until mid-season.

Officials of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, which sponsors the Sugar Bowl, said scouts would be at the following games: Navy at Penn State, Oklahoma at Notre Dame, Texas A&M at LSU, Houston at Texas and Mississippi at Memphis State.

BOWLING TIPS
By DON CARTER



When you are faced with one of the larger splits, it is well to realize your chances of converting it into a spare are small, even if you are a professional. But by having "an idea," you will be more likely to make the right shot once in a while. For the tough 4-9, for instance, I suggest that you mentally aim at an area just to the left of the No. 4. With luck you will brush the No. 4 and knock it against the No. 9.

Michigan Picked Over Cal's Bears

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The California Bears arrived yesterday determined to repeat last year's victory over Michigan when the teams open their 1968 football season tomorrow.

The Bears, despite last year's 10-9 edge and a better record—5-5 compared with Michigan's 4-6 — enter the contest slight underdogs.

Bear Coach Ray Willsey is relying on his defensive line and linebackers to hold off Michigan's two main offensive threats — quarterback Dennis Brown and halfback Ron Johnson.

Johnson gained 1,005 yards and scored eight touchdowns last year.

Irby Augustine and Mike McCaffrey, Cal's defensive ends, will try to contain the elusive Brown on option rollouts.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Many Salmon Limits Taken At Muir Beach, Rocky Point

STEVENS

Long ago, someone tabbed Friday as being "Fish-Day," so, you are supposed to go fishing today.

Judging by reports, it won't be hard to catch salmon in the ocean. From Caruso's harbor at Sausalito comes word that trolling for salmon off Muir Beach and Rocky Point is paying off in great shape. "Mostly limits," was the word, with fish to 35 pounds.

I contacted the Lee Anderson spot in Oakland and the word was almost as good. For example, on Tuesday the Sea Horse boated a nice catch to 25 pounds; the Sunfish took 23 salmon to 28 pounds and the Long Fin had 7 to 22 pounds. Lee Anderson's also reported the Cherokee did some live-bait trolling and collected 7 striped bass to 24 pounds and, just to make the trip more interesting, boated 5 salmon.

FROM DOWRELIO'S Crockett Harbor the word is okay for trolling during the daytime with a 42 pound monster pulled in by Ernest Hadley. Sturgeon trolling has been fine with some good-sized fish taken in the Suisun Bay area, a number measuring 61 inches.

FOR THOSE of you who like to make a combination fishing and hunting trip spiced with great gobs of scenery, from Weaverville comes a report of fair to good angling for steelhead. The Sutter Bypass has proved a mecca for catfishing. The average weight of these cats is not over three or four pounds but much bigger fish are expected.

SCATTER GUNNERS, please note: The 1968-1969 statewide waterfowl seasons will open Saturday, Oct. 19 and close Sunday, Jan. 12. The new regulations setting an 86 day straight season mark the first time in recent years that all three major waterfowl hunting areas of the state have had the same season dates.

There is to be a duck limit of six per day with six in possession, generally. The northwestern California and Colorado River areas, which have regulations coinciding with those of Oregon and Arizona, will have daily limit of five ducks and possession limit of ten.

Jim Brown Leads Mill Valley Golf

Jim Brown, low medalist with a 62 in his qualifying round, will be one of 16 golfers trying for top honors in the championship Flight of the Mill Valley Club Championship tourney beginning Sunday.

Defending champ in the tourney is Russ Adams.

A total of 65 golfers in four flights will be competing.

All Eyes On Troy In The Pacific 8

The kickoff whistles blow tomorrow for the eight members of the Pacific-8 Conference, but all teams face nonconference members.

Six teams will be involved in intersectionals and two face "neighborhood' rivals.

Oregon State, California and defending national champion Southern California begin against Big Ten opponents. Southern California plays at Minnesota, Oregon State will be Iowa's guest and California will be at Michigan.

Washington will host Rice, Oregon plays at Colorado and UCLA takes on Pittsburgh in a night game at Los Angeles.

The neighborhood rivalries will be waged at Spokane, Wash., where Washington State meets Idaho, and at Stanford where the Indians play San Jose State.

Five of the eight teams will break in new quarterbacks Saturday. Returning are junior Steve Preece of Oregon State, Southern California's Steve Sogge, a senior, and California's Randy Humphries, a junior.

New field generals include Jerry Kaloper of Washington, a senior who hasn't played varsity ball; Alan Pitcaithley of Oregon, a converted running back; Stanford's Jim Plunkett, an untested sophomore; and a threesome from Washington State — veterans Hank Grenda and Jerry Henderson and junior college transfer Rich Olson.

Bill Bolden, a junior, takes over from graduated All-American Gary Beban for the UCLA Bruins.

Market On High Side At Day's End

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher in active trading today.

The gain came after a struggle against some eroision of prices.

The market opened on a firm note, showed some easiness, then came back to continue the advance begun a week ago.

Steels were higher and motors mixed.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional but a few ranged to about 3 points.

Prices near the close included Pan Am up 1⅝ at 27; AMK Corp. off 2½ at 46¼; National General up 1⅛ at 50¼; First Charter off 1⅜ at 39⅛; Crown Zellerbach off ½ at 53¾; U.S. Steel up 1 at 41¾; General Motors off ½ at 83¼; Goodyear up ⅛ at 60⅛; American Telephone up ¾ at 52⅞, and Zenith off ¾ at 56⅛.

Advances trailed earlier trading where a continuation of a higher trend seemed evident.

Gainers maintained an edge over losers, but the margin faded to less than 100 issues.

Volume hovered at the 10-million mark in mid-afternoon trading.

Many big blocks crossed the tape, but losers were outpacing gainers by nearly 2 to 1 in the most active interest.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

46 EDITORIAL PAGE San Rafael, Calif. Friday, September 20, 1968

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Mergers Need Not Wait For 'Pie In Sky' Solution

The North Marin County Water District has asked the Local Agency Formation Commission to approve a plan for takeover of the Novato Sanitary District by the water district.

The Homestead Valley Sanitary District has asked Marin Municipal Water District to take over its operations.

Directors of Tiburon and Richardson Bay Sanitary Districts are discussing merger.

These three moves appear as desirable approaches to reducing the number of separate taxing entities in Marin.

ACCORDING TO County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, there are 65 tax-levying districts in Marin, in addition to the 11 cities and in addition also to 38 special districts for which taxes are levied by the county board of supervisors.

Boundaries of the various districts, and of the districts and the cities, overlap at many points. And there is some overlap of functions, too.

The merger moves involving the Novato, Homestead, Tiburon and Richardson Bay Sanitary Districts are direct outgrowths of the Brown and Caldwell report on county sewage problems. It recommended that the two big water districts—Marin Municipal and North Marin—take over sewer operations.

The moves represent, however, an approach to the whole problem of multiple jurisdictions that makes sense and could accomplish much.

THERE HAS BEEN talk for years, by public officials and others, about a "City and County of Marin." The idea is to have something like what San Francisco has: one huge government embracing functions of county, cities and school districts.

This idea has attractions. But for the present, it is pretty much "pie in the sky."

While officials dream of such a master consolidation, little districts continue to be added. And "regional government" approaches to various problems, such as transportation, bay pollution, etc., merely superimpose more and more jurisdictions on top.

THE APPROACH that can work — and that will result in public benefits — is to start getting rid of the little districts by merger.

This happens so rarely that a few years ago, when residents of Tamalpais Valley and Homestead Fire Districts voted to merge those districts, it created statewide interest. It was the first time in history that a fire district in California had been merged out of existence by vote of its residents.

PEOPLE ARE becoming more and more aware that they suffer from fragmentation of government — both from government which is too big and gets fragmented into bureaucracies and from that which is too little to accomplish its purposes efficiently.

Whenever mergers are suggested, they are likely to be opposed by both elected officials and hired bureaucracies of the districts involved. This has helped to defeat several school district unification proposals in Marin.

The City of Novato and the Novato Sanitary District are opposing the proposed merger of the latter with North Marin Water District. But the water district is going ahead with it.

We hope it succeeds. We think it makes sense. And it makes sense also for the Homestead Valley Sanitary District to dissolve itself and turn its system over to MMWD, and for the Tiburon and Richardson Bay Sanitary Districts to merge.

We needn't wait for "pie in the sky." We can get busy now on eliminating unnecessary taxing districts.

Proposition 2 Another Case Of Big Cities Vs. Rural Areas

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — For the next several days, this column will deal with the propositions to be placed on the Nov. 5 general election ballot.

Proposition 2 relates to the taxation of publicly owned property outside of the county in which the property is located.

In other words, should a municipal district or a large city and or city and county acquire property in another county, it would be taxed as provided by a formula written into the constitution under Proposition 2.

Presently, such property is assessed by the county assessor in the county where it is located, and the rates fixed on the basis on property in the entire county, rather than on a formula, as proposed, on the basis of a state-wide rate.

OBVIOUSLY, the proposed amendment is a method of reducing property taxes on municipal utilities, involving primarily water and power. Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Riverside, and Sen. George Mosone, D-San Francisco, are the two lawmakers who wrote arguments in favor of the amendment in the ballot pamphlet.

The amendment would be highly beneficial to San Francisco and Los Angeles, as well as other cities of high population, which depend for their water supplies on counties far distant from the area of usage.

Moscone says: "This amendment continues the taxation of these publicly-owned lands, but sets up a state-wide formula so their assessed valuation will increase at a similar rate to the general increase in property values throughout the state, an estimated five per cent per year.

"This measure will assure continuance of an adequate tax base related to these lands. It will also assure public agencies owning the property that their citizens will not bear more than an equitable share of taxes levied in the taxing counties."

Senator Cologne further claims that the taxes levied by the counties in which the lands are located add to the cost of public utility taxes in the cities of California, and that it is not fair to allow assessments in those counties without reasonable controls.

OPPOSING arguments are by Sen. Richard J. Dolwing, R-San Mateo, and Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, who maintain that the right to assess should be kept in the county where the property is located.

They state that the principal aim of supporters of the amendment is to lower taxes for large governmental land owners by taking the taxing power away from the people, thereby increasing the tax burden on home owners and businesses in many California cities and counties.

Thus, the battle on Proposition 2 shapes up as a dispute between urban and rural California, with the cities attempting to get a tax break at the expense of taxpayers in the smaller communities.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Social Security Funds In Danger

The information below is a quote from Look Magazine on the Social Security Act which I think many of your readers would be interested in seeing.

"There is a bill before Congress now that would destroy the Social Security Act and channel the money you have paid, and will pay in the future, into welfare programs with the administration empowered to determine what retirement benefit, if any, you would receive, based on his determination of your need. If, in his opinion, you did not need it, he would reduce the amount, or deny you entirely. Aside from the fact that this would be outright confiscation of the money you have paid into the Social Security Fund over the years, no man should have this power. There are a lot of power-mad people in our country who would like to get their hands on the billions of dollars in the Social Security program in order to dole it out to their political supporters. The opportunity for corruption staggers the imagination. It is your money. Let your congressman and senator know how you feel about House Bill 5710."

I would appreciate your printing this in your Letters to the Editor, or it might even be a good topic for you to write an editorial on.

Prices Keep Rising For Obvious Reasons

Following the announcement that Chrysler automobiles would cost more in 1969 came the anticipated castigation of that corporation by the White House.

It does not take the brains of an economist to conclude that new and higher wage contracts with the various unions plus mandatory safety features in the new models would result in a price increase to the consumer.

I am certainly not against the union members getting wage increases, or increased fringe benefits; but when the White House talks about holding the line on price increases, it behoves one to realize that "sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

Inflation Real Campaign Issue

Recently, William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, commenting on inflation and other vital matters, stated that we are "in the midst of the worst financial crisis since 1931."

Inflation and the policies through which our government is supposedly endeavoring to deal with it constitute, in my humble opinion the most critical issue in the current presidential campaign. Anyone who takes the time to study the experience of man, throughout the ages, can prove conclusively that inflation and freedom of individual or collective enterprise are incompatable; they cannot exist together in the same economic climate. Inflation invariably is government-produced; originating with the profligate expenditure of government funds (taxpayers' money) and it always follows war, because war, obviously, is the most wasteful expenditure of a nation's resources — financial, material and human. . .

When taxes no longer produces sufficient revenue to pay for the nation's extravagance, the government does one, or both, of two things: It debases the coinage by outright devaluation, or issues printing-press money. Inflation and taxation together rapidly despoil the accumulated savings of the people and destroy all further incentive to save, to invest, or even to produce. . .

So far both leading candidates for the presidency have not — in any of their speeches that I have heard or read — unveiled to the public the whole story. They make fine speeches and I especially like the straightforward way they dodge the issues.

Law And Order —In Earth And Sky

Isn't it wonderful that God arranged for the earth under our feet to remain there — not to crumble and throw itself upward into our faces! And, too, that it soak up rain and water as they fall upon it — so that these do not rise up and smack us in the face. Gravity. Tool of the Master Mechanic. It leaves the air free for us to breathe. In all this there is no favoritism, no opportunist maneuvering by the head man.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON hates to be ctiticized — but except in times of extreme stress, doesn't let detractors get too deep under his skin. He likes to tell a story about a farmer who was driven nearly out of his mind by the croaking of what seemed like thousands of bull frogs in his pond. Finally he drained the pond. "And do you know how many bullfrogs he found?" the President concludes gleefully. "Two!"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Johnson Shooting For Summit As Grand Finale Of Term

WASHINGTON — In the four months remaining in his presidency Lyndon Johnson is bent on a summit. While the initial goal was Moscow, and this is still not entirely ruled out, the consolation prize is Asian summitry, with 1966 as a precedent.

The plans are being readied for Bangkok some time after mid-October. Natually no one will admit to this for a moment. Conceivably it could be broader in concept than merely the allies in the Vietnam war — a conference of Asian powers, including Japan, charting the Johnson legacy of economic rehabilitation over a wide arc.

But whatever the locale, it is a safe bet that the President will be out of the country as the Nixon-Humphrrey contest goes into the final embittered weeks. Johnson wants desperately to score in the last inning so that his record in foreign policy will be at least somewhat redeemed.

THE RUSSIAN take-over in Prague was for the President a personal disaster, since it thwarted his mission to Moscow. He had anticipated initiating the talks that would eventually lead to a slowdown in the nuclear arms race. That would have been a fitting climax to the nuclear non-proliferation treaty agreed to after so many long painstaking months of higgling and haggling at Geneva.

Seen in larger perspective, the personal consequences for one man's place in history are dwarfed to insignificance. Prague may have put a period to the last chance to stop short of the brink. It is like the U-2 spy plane incident which at the end of Dwight Eisenhower's presidency wrecked his high hopes for an easing of tensions and at least a pause in the seesaw of missile rivalry.

As was almost inevitable, Prague has poisoned the political atmosphere here at home. Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford reacted by calling for a go-ahead on the anti-ballistic missile on the theory that the United States in the missile talks must negotiate from a position of strength. This means another upward notch, since the military masters in Moscow will certainly instist on theer own position of strength.

IN THESE WANING months, with his Gallup rating at an all-time low, the handwriting on the wall is all too plain for Johnson. Every sign points to a disaster for his party. Understandably he does not want to be trapped in the ruins.

Two years ago he took the same reading and planned to be out of the country so that presumably the blame would not fall on him. He went on a grand tour of the Pacific, beginning with New Zealand and Australia. Everywhere huge crowds thronged the streets and for the most part they were friendly crowds.

The climax came with a seven-nation conference in Manila. The conference ended on Oct. 25 with a communique pledging that all foreign troops would be withdrawn from South Vietnam six months after North Vietnam stopped its aggression and infiltration and withdrew its forces. From Manila Johnson went on to Thailand, Malaysia and South Korea where he received the most tumultuous reception of the tour, with two million people in the streets of Seoul.

A day or two before the tour ended Bill Moyers, then the President's press secretary and strong right arm, let it be known that on his return Johnson would start out on a furious campaign swing taking him to as many as 18 states. Reporters accompanying the President wrote that he meant to ride to the rescue of his beleaguered party.

The day after he got back to Washington he held a press conference and with considerable heat denied that he had ever intended to hit the campaign trial.

HOW MUCH he could have done at that late date to save veterans such as Sen. Paul Douglas was questionable. In any event, he did not campaign. The Republicans won 47 House seats, Douglas, Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California and other unfortunates went down to defeat.

In mid-Octover this year, New Zealand's Premier Keith J. Holyoake comes to Washington on a state visit. According to present planning he will fly back with Johnson on Air Force One for a repeat of the Asian summit of two years ago. As always, of course, the President is holding the final decision down to the last minute of the last hour of the last day. What he could do for Vice President Hubert Humphrey if he were to stay home is a bigger question mark than it was two years ago. Another hard-line cnnference could only add to Humphrey's troubles.

Enemy Gets Better Guns While U.S. Procrastinates

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — While Pentagon "experts" have been bungling the M-16 rifle program into a procurement scandal, Communist forces in Vietnam, down to small Viet Cong guerilla units, have been equipped with a comparable fast-firing weapon, the AK-47.

That is the real tragedy of the M-16 mess — a story mostly untold by the House and Senate investigators who have correctly criticized development and procurement of the M-16. The AK-47 is, in fact, a largely untold story in itself, although it has been an important Communist weapon in Vietnam since 1965.

Heavier than the M-16 and not so fast in rate of fire, the Russian-designed AK-47 is, nevertheless, a rugged serviceable weapon.

COMBAT REPORTS from Vietnam indicate that North Vietnamese units, main force Viet Cong units, and some smaller guerilla units are now equipped with the AK-47.

Army procurement officials have been justifying their recent award of M-16 contracts to high bidders on the basis of urgency. The rifles, they say, are urgently needed and there was no assurance that the low-cost producers could meet an accelerated production schedule.

Review of the M-16 procurement, however, does not indicate that anybody felt a real sense of urgency, here in Washington, for many months after Gen. William C. Westmoreland began making urgent requests for more of the rifles.

Experts say the Communists began introducing the AK-47 to Vietnam combat in February 1965, and the weapons were quickly in evidence as far south as the delta.

In December, 1965, Westmoreland asked that the M-16 be adopted for Vietnamese units. The Army responded by ordering 100,000 M-16s, and Westmoreland quickly advised Washington that such an order solved only the immediate requirements.

A YEAR LATER, in December 1966, then Defense Sec. Robert S. McNamara ordered the Army to set up a second source for M-16 procurement in addition to Colt Industries, Inc.

Only in January of this year, however, did the Pentagon decide to buy all the M-16s that Colt could produce.

Mill Valley Library Gets Bigger Play In New Quarters

Books are a big item in Mill Valley.

According to Dorothy Thomas, the city's efficient and popular librarian, each month the library circulates, on the average, nearly one book for every man, woman and child living within the library's general service area.

That's 23,000 books circulated each month to a population of 25,000 persons.

That's approximately two-thirds of the library's catalogue of 69,258 books. But before jumping to any rash conclusion, let me point out that while statistics may not be outright dishonest they can be misleading.

Many books are circulated many times during the month, while others remain on the shelves untouched for years except for an occasional dusting by a loving librarian.

HOWEVER, there is no way of getting around the fact that Mill Valleyans, whether city residents or adjacent county dwellers (the library is open to any resident of any city in the North Bay Cooperative Library System and 48 per cent of its users are from outside the city love their library.

The library actually gets much more use than even these statistics show, with many persons coming in to browse, looking at the myriad of magazines and newspapers. Others use the library's popular financial service and still others drop in to read a favorite book in front of the great stone fireplace or out on the deck under the redwoods.

Use of the library has increased tremendously since it moved into its new home on Throckmorton Avenue two years ago. The circulation for the year ending June 30, 1966 was 182,344. By this past June 30, the number had increased to 255,207.

Mrs. Thomas and her staff expected a big increase following the move, since many non-users came to look at the new building and, feeling remiss about neglecting their reading programs, borrowed books. But the increase has held steady and, in fact, is growing gradually, which can only mean those who came decided to stay.

GENERALLY, non-fiction is more popular than fiction and children's books get a big play. But before anyone prides himself on living in an intellectual community, Mrs. Thomas notes that these trends are not unusual, especially for suburban libraries.

Reference questions are on the rise, while phonograph records have been on the wane. Some 6,395 reference questions were asked, and presumably answered, in 1966-67, in 1967-68, the number increased to 6,956. On the other hand, the circulation of phonograph records decreased from 9,533 in 1966-67 to 8,737 in 1967-68.

WHILE ON the subject of libraries: Mrs. Thomas is seeking a house for the library cat, Flower Bower Gower Champion, who needs a roof over his head at night after the library's doors are closed.

A small dog house, with amenities suitable to Snoopy, would do, she says.

The structure should conform, if possible, to the library architecture. Those with houses should notify Mrs. Thomas.

MILL VALLEY'S lovely lawns on lower Miller Avenue have not been struck by the grassy plague despite their brown appearance. According to Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos, the lawns have just undergone a necessary health treatment. It's all too complicated for this reporter but the process is called verticutting and has something to do with opening up the root structure of the grass when it gets too clogged with nature's debris.

Anyway, Dimitratos assures those concerned that once the treatment is completed, the grass will be greener.

I'll Love You Forever And Ever -Except During Football Season

WASHINGTON — The football season has opened on schedule, and once again families all over the country are being torn apart by the heavy schedule of televised games. I frankly regret the season has come. My wife and I were just getting a good relationship going, and now we probably won't see each other until January.

The last time I talked to her, which was a half-hour before the Washington Redskins-Chicago Bears game, I believe she was crying. I remember it quite distinctly because Frank Gifford was showing some great movies of Gale Sayers, and I noticed out of the corner of my eye that my wife was getting tears all over my potato chips.

"I HATE SOGGY potato chips," I said.

But she didn't want to listen to reason. "Why does it have to happen to us every fall? What have I done wrong?"

There was a commercial on so I put my arms around her. "You haven't done anything wrong, Luv. Matter of fact, I was just telling the boys yesterday during halftime between the Tennessee-Georgia game, you're a precious jewel and next to football on TV, I love you more than anything else in the world."

She pushed me away. "I thought so. Well, do you know what I think of football?"

"Don't say something you'll be sorry for," I warned.

"I think it's the great American homosexual game of tag."

"NOW YOU'VE DONE it," I said angrily. "Now you've really done it. By making that uncalled-for outburst, you have probably ruined my Sunday afternoon. If I could get up from this chair I'd probably walk out of this house."

She started crying again, so I moved the potato chips away. "I don't know if I can take another season of this," she said. "It isn't just the Saturday and Sunday afternoons. It's the long, lonely nights when they're showing games, and the game replays in the mornings and the specials on Vince Lombardi. Don't you have feelings for me?"

"You're exaggerating," I said. "There was no pro football on last Tuesday night. I know that's a fact because it was the night I played poker."

"I'M GETTING fed up," she cried. "I'm not going to sit here day after day, night after night, wasting away while you make love to a television set."

I was becoming nervous because it was getting near kickoff time. "What are you going to do?"

"I'm leaving. I'm going to find someone who cares about me, someone who wants me for myself." Then she said, "I might even take a lover."

"Hey, that's a good idea," I said. "But will you be sure there's enough beer in the icebox? We ran out last weekend."

SHE STOMPED OUT of the room just in time. Washington had won the toss and had elected to receive.

Ben, Phil, George, Joe and "Doc" had shown up by this time. George was the first to notice something was wrong. "These potato chips are very soggy," he said.

"My wife was crying in them," I apologized. "I'll get a fresh bag after the next time out."

"The women are certainly taking the season hard," Ben said. "I never saw them so upset."

"You can say that again," said Doc. "Just before I came over my wife told me she was going to find herself a lover."

"So did mine," said Phil.

"What did you say?"

"I SAID she couldn't. I needed the car to come over here."

"None of you seem worried," Ben said.

"Why should we be?" said George. "Who are they going to find when everyone's watching football on television?"

COUNTY COMMENT

Rising Above Lowly Politics– With Eye On Court Appointment

Fusselman

Once again the arrogant one out at Brasilia exhibited his intolerant contempt for the views of anyone who has a different motivation than his, and this on most any subject you might mention. This gives one, all the more, some grave doubts.

Just a few weeks or so ago he blithely announced that he was available for appointment to the new superior court for Marin — just like that. He said he thought it was time to let people know he was a lawyer.

Now, that last one was somewhat hard to understand. In the years I served on the board of supervisors with him, it was a rare occasion, indded, that he did not call attention to his professional label to emphasize his supposedly superior comprehension.

WHEN ONE CONSIDERS the equitable, fair-minded demeanor required of the judiciary, one can not help but be startled at such an outburst as occured at Tuesday's meeting, and which was reported by Wat Takeshita.

Three of the board members were of the opinion that it would not be proper procedure to attend a luncheon meeting with Mayor Alioto, which, I believe, had been set up before the suits were filed by the five Bay Area counties over the payroll tax on commuters which the mayor had induced his board of supervisors to impose.

THIS AT THE board meeting on Tuesday: Behr (Supervisor Peter H.): "We should rise above politics." When the others denied that any politics were involved, this followed: Behr: "You know damn well there are." When answered that he shouldn't resent it and say it's politics, he replied: "Resentment is not the word. I say it is stupid." (Oh, so typical). Finally the board decided not to meet with Alioto until after the court hearing in Santa Rosa on Sept. 30. Behr and Storer were on the losing side.

When the fact is considered that the suit was brought by five Bay Area counties, it certainly would have looked like treachery for one county to be having lunch with the opposition. You are never safe from bitter condemnation, when you are around the arrogant one.

CONTINUING LAST weeks comments about the fleet of five ferries, Storer has been pushing for some more "what abouts" including: What about the run from San Francisco to Marin in the morning before the commute movement to San Francisco? Will they come dead-head or will there be an assurance of north bound ferry traffic at those hours, or will it go over the bridge? The same problem in reverse will occur in the evening. It must be remembered that the dead-head trips build up, the costs of operating and will affect the subsidy you will be required to produce.

Then, on the other had, if there is full traffic on the ferries in both directions, morning and evening, picture the tie-ups at Sausalito and other departure points. You know there has been a tremendous proliferation of autos since the old days of ferry transport, but the same narrow congested streets that existed then still remain. The tie-ups could be beauts.

Carrying charges can somewhat be offset with bus transportation by charter runs during the off peak hours. I don't think that could be counted on with only five ferries running and the necessity of keeping up schedules.

Wind-Blown Chopper Rescues A Boatsman

A Pacifica man was lifted off his floundering 27-foot cabin cruiser last night minutes before high seas crushed it against the rocks of Bodega Bay.
